HOSTEL BULLETIN

Paula Luciw, staff supervisor at Kelowna hostel, glances over the bulletin board located inside the hostel, packed with information ranging from medical aid to employment opportunities.

The majority of items inside the hostel, such as the television set and floor coverings, were donated to the hostel from interested citizens. The bulletin board has house rules posted, what's playing at the local theatre, locations of other hostels and a Mad magazine tear sheet entitled "The Art of Writing."

Coast IWA Start Strike

BULLETIN
VANCOUVER (CP) — Work in British Columbia's coast forest industry came to a halt at noon today when the International Woodworkers of America called its 28,000 coast workers out on strike.

VANCOUVER (CP) — Nearly 20,000 of the International Woodworkers of America's 28,000 coast workers were on the picket lines today in anticipation of an industry-wide strike.

The Vancouver local of the IWA called out its 6,000 members at 8 a.m. to join about 14,000 others who had walked out at intervals since the master contract between the union and Forest Industrial Relations expired a week ago.

Jack Moore, regional president of the IWA, announced the decision taken by the union negotiating committee at a committee meeting Wednesday night.

The meeting followed a bargaining session with Forest Industrial Relations, representing 115 employers, which ended at 7:30 p.m.

The forest companies estimated earlier Wednesday that as many as 14,000 IWA members on the coast were off the job in a walkout not sanctioned by the union. The walkouts began at the expiry of the last IWA contract June 14.

Mr. Moore said the negotiating committee now is ready to sanction a total shutdown of the coast industry because of the failure of the FIR to reply to a union counter-proposal made two days ago.

Sewerage Fund Gains Backing

Vernon Mayor Stuart Fleming's proposal of establishing a perpetual fund to finance municipal sewerage treatment plant improvements won approval of the Okanagan Mainline Municipal Association in Salmon Arm Wednesday on the second time around.

But it did not get through unscathed. Opposing the resolution, Kelowna's Mayor Hilbert Roth said he could not agree to the proposal because he felt it penalized municipalities who have already installed high-standard plants.

Mayor Fleming's proposal, introduced for the first time at the OMDMA's March meeting in Summerland and rejected because it did not include a forgiveness clause, provides for the establishment of a fund from a $15,000,000 deposit each year for 10 years, loaned to municipalities and regional districts for 20 to 25 years terms at three per cent interest.

In urging support for the resolution Mayor Fleming said it still did not include the forgiveness clause because if it did "the self-perpetuating fund would be destroyed."

He said there are many municipalities with existing plants which have to be upgraded to meet the high pollution control standards.

But there are others who are wishing to install plants but have nothing to build on.

"So we could have two approaches," he suggested. "The development of existing systems, by low interest, long term loans, and installation of new systems which should qualify for a provincial grant."

He said he wanted to move a second resolution urging the provincial government to make grants available for new systems.

Mayor Roth said "it seems to me the municipalities already have gone ahead and taken the initiative."

He said Kelowna had already spent $5,000,000 on sewerage treatment facilities "and it seems unfair to us to have to subsidize a community which is starting from scratch."

He said if municipalities are required to bring their plants up to new standards then the provincial government should make grants.

Mayor Roth said Kelowna taxpayers are already paying $50 a household unit for pollution control "and they shouldn't be penalized any further."

"I cannot agree to the motion, but I do agree the provincial government should be asked for help."

Mayor Fleming said this was exactly the point he had been making. Pollution control is becoming a greater concern of municipalities, he said, and with the constantly rising standards pollution control is taking a larger injection of cash than can be generated locally.

'No Riding On Shirt-Tails' In Contributions To City

Rural residents "don't ride on other people's shirt-tails" when it comes to financial contributions to the city, James Stuart declared at the regular meeting of the Regional District of Central Okanagan Wednesday.

In a prepared statement, the East and Southeast Kelowna director, said in the past few weeks "many references have been made to the fact that rural people pay nothing to the city of Kelowna."

"I feel somewhere, someone has to say something back," Mr. Stuart emphasized, adding the rural populace "pay our way."

Citing examples and figures, he said during past several years all major operations of Sun-Rype Products Ltd., have been centrally located in the city of Kelowna, and the largest controlled atmosphere storage unit for the industry was recently built in the city.

In addition, four packing houses were also located in Kelowna, and the co-operative ventures were "owned and operated by the fruit growers of the area" who paid $18,909 in taxes to the city in 1971 as well as contributed $131,223 for utilities on an average crop.

Mr. Stuart said fruit growers shipping to a packing house located in the city contribute eight cents a box for taxes and five cents a box for utilities.

He added based on 300 boxes per acre the area he represented on the board, his area would pay $70,800 for land taxes and $44,250 for utilities per year to the city. Most of the fruit in this area, he said, was packed in Kelowna.

Citing himself an example, Mr. Stuart added in his own case, based on an average crop of 20,000 boxes, "I pay $1,600 for taxes and $1,000 for utilities to the city."

"I wonder how many home owners in the city pay this much city tax," he questioned.

After deduction of the home owner grant, he said he paid the provincial government $964 in land taxes, of which sum $65 is regional district tax.

His statement concluded with the admonition that according to the figures presented, "I feel we pay our fair share to city facilities and receive no recognition from the city for this contribution."

With most of the board in concurrence, Peachland Mayor Harold Thwaite, suggested a copy of the statement be sent to Mayor Hilbert Roth (who was absent) for distribution to city fathers.

"A lot of rural people contribute more to the city than city residents, he added.

Westbank director, Andrew Duncan, agreed with the reminder the rural work-force constituted the "second highest payroll" in the area.

STOCKS DIVE

NEW YORK (AP) — Stock market prices took a nose dive today, interrupting a mild two-day rally.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials at noon was off 5.49 at 946.12. In the last two sessions, the Dow rose some 9 points.

Ceasefire Called In Ulster By Militant IRA Group

DUBLIN (AP) — The nationalist Provisional wing of the outlawed Irish Republican Army announced today a conditional ceasefire in its bomb and bullet campaign in Northern Ireland starting at midnight next Monday night.

The IRA said suspension of military activities would take effect from Monday provided the "terms" are reciprocated by the British Army.

William Whitelaw, chief British administrator for troubled Ulster, said in London that Britain will "obviously reciprocate" if the IRA ends its offensive. He gave the government's initial answer in the House of Commons even before knowing the militants' full terms.

The IRA announcement did not give details and did not explain the "terms." In the past the British have ignored Provisional IRA ceasefire offers that were linked to demands for troop withdrawals.

The IRA also did not say whether the truce would be indefinite or for a fixed time.

A British Army spokesman in Belfast commented: "We are pleased that a ceasefire has been called. But we have not been told what the terms are or how long the ceasefire will last."

The Marxist Official wing of the IRA has been observing an indefinite ceasefire since early this month. The Provisional wing ignored this and continued its violence to expel the British from the Northern Ireland.

A statement issued in Dublin by the Provisions on the ceasefire said: "The leadership of the republican movement believes that a bilateral suspension of operations would lead to meaningful talks between the major parties to the conflict."

In Londonderry, Northern Ireland's second city, Provisional leader Martin McGuinness announced that his men will observe the Dublin-called ceasefire.

Provisional leaders in Dublin were earlier reported running into difficulties in getting agreement on a ceasefire. A militant group of Provisionals in Belfast were reported to be holding out against such a move and urging that the violence campaign be continued.

But sources said this group was overruled by a majority of the IRA. The sources said they were sensitive to growing pressure from Northern Ireland's Catholics for an end to three years of communal strife that has left 375 dead.

The violence continued Wednesday night.

Roman Catholic and Protestant mobs clashed bitterly in Belfast with rocks and bottles.

British troops were summoned to force the factions apart and succeeded in driving a wedge with volleys of anti-riot rubber bullets.

Mr. Diefenbaker, in an interview while here to open a house for the handicapped, said it was "unbelievable" that a person with a record of repeated sexual attacks should be given a ticket of leave.

"It is all very well for the minister to say that a number of sexual offenders have been given leave and nothing has happened. But a person who has a perpetual record of sexual crime is not one to be released."

"No amount of alibis can get away from the fact that under the present solicitor-general many of these things are happening."

Prison Passes 'Need Scrutiny'

TORONTO (CP) — Former prime minister John Diefenbaker has called for a royal commission to investigate the handling of prisoners' leaves.

His demand followed Solicitor-General Jean-Pierre Goyer's admission in Ottawa that a convicted rapist on weekend leave from a British Columbia prison is a suspect in the slaying of a seven-year-old girl.

Mr. Diefenbaker, in an interview while here to open a house for the handicapped, said it was "unbelievable" that a person with a record of repeated sexual attacks should be given a ticket of leave.

"No amount of alibis can get away from the fact that under the present solicitor-general many of these things are happening."

The matter was referred to the administration and finance committee. Chairman W. C. Bennett said the committee felt that, since education is a provincial matter, the grant could not be made. The school board asked to present further details to the board, and the committee left this up to other directors.

"We should hear them," suggested Val Rampone, Benvoulin and South Pandey.

"There might be other requests," warned Heinz Koetz, Ellison-Belgo.

"They are having a hard time," said Eoin Lamont, Okanagan Mission-Cedar Creek.

"I'd like to hear more," added D. A. Pritchard, Lakeview Heights.

"The Seventh-day Adventists had to close a school in my area because of shortage of money," said John McCoubrey, Winfield, Oryana and Okanagan Centre. This church has the Okanagan Academy in Rutland.

The motion to write a letter of sympathy was supported by all directors except Mr. Pritchard and Mr. Rampone. Mr. Marshall, Rutland, and Mr. Pritchard suggested asking the B.C. government to aid private schools.

"They spend about $100 per pupil compared to $400-$500 in the public schools," commented Mr. Pritchard.

Only District's 'Sympathy' Goes To R.C. School Board

The Catholic Public School Board will get only sympathy from the Regional District of Central Okanagan board.

The school board had asked $5,000 from the regional board to help towards operating St. Joseph's Elementary and Immaculate High schools in Kelowna. They are the only Roman Catholic schools in the region.

The matter was referred to the administration and finance committee. Chairman W. C. Bennett said the committee felt that, since education is a provincial matter, the grant could not be made. The school board asked to present further details to the board, and the committee left this up to other directors.

At least the picture is right side up. This glider piloted by Michael Gropp, 18, of Regina, was forced down by high winds and got entangled on telegraph wires just outside Regina. Mr. Gropp escaped without injury.

More Than Nine Years In Jail Ends With 'Not Guilty' Finding

VICTORIAVILLE, Que. (CP) — Julian Roux, 42, after spending nine years and three months in prison, was found not guilty Wednesday of the murder of Henri Demault.

While in prison he constantly maintained his innocence of the 1963 murder and attempted, unsuccessfully, to appeal his case in 1964.

In May, 1970, after lawyers had studied the file, the federal justice minister ordered the appeals court to review the case. Last week, the court ordered a retrial.

Roux appeared in court Wednesday and was found not guilty on the murder charge but guilty of theft in the same affair.

The judge imposed a one-day jail sentence since the accused had already served nine years for a crime he did not commit.

Roux, on learning of the judge's decision, said: "I have lost everything in the last 10 years—my wife, my job. I have four children to get me acquainted with. It is for their sake that I have decided to restart my life."

SCIENCE COUNCIL FINDS:

Not Too Late To Beat Pollution

OTTAWA (CP) — The Science Council of Canada today said pollution and environmental problems are being created faster than they can be solved but it is "not too late—yet!" to mount a massive counter-attack.

Pollution of fresh water lakes and rivers, particularly east and west of Montreal, demands the most urgent attention, it said. Other environmental problems loomed large and needed longer-range attention.

"It may be later than we think," the council said in a 1,400-word report. "It is a time for setting priorities, for getting on with the job, for maintaining enthusiasm by action."

A five-year attack on pollution in the Great Lakes and St. Lawrence system needs to be undertaken as a matter of urgency.

With $10 million for cleaning the river from Cornwall, Ont., past Montreal to Riviere-du-Loup, Que., another $5 million needed to be spent down river from there, including the estuary and gulf.

Some tributaries and channels of the Fraser River in the lower mainland of British Columbia show signs of excessive pollution and the problem will grow on some main Pacific rivers unless checked, the council said. It already was serious in some Atlantic province localities.

URGES NEW BODY

The council, composed principally of university scientists and industrial engineers, urged formation of a politically-independent body which would keep the public reliably informed on pollution problems and progress in meeting them.

Canadians have developed an environmental conscience, and this should be allowed neither to wither nor to become exaggerated into national panic, the council said.

The country has been mapped and surveyed for geology. But more studies were needed on the effects of disturbing the frozen ground water of the North, the ecological consequences of human activity there and the effects of such projects as major hydro-electric installations.

The Bennett Dam on the Peace River in B.C. was built "without sufficient prior ecological consideration." Water supplies to the Athabaska delta in northeastern Alberta had been seriously reduced while the dam was being filled.

The report, sketching a provocative picture of anticipated national growth, said by the year 2000 there will be no commercial agricultural land left in the Lower Fraser Valley of B.C., between Cobourg and London in southern Ontario or between Cornwall, Ont., and Trois-Rivieres, Que.

The 2,500 square miles of land described as urban in 1966 would grow by an additional 3,000 or 4,000 square miles by 2000.

Western Canada enjoyed well-washed air from the prevailing westerly winds across the Pacific and Arctic regions. But Eastern Canada, "downwind from large industrial centres of the U.S.," has reason to be worried about the potential of "high and chronic levels of air pollution over large areas."

The report said that smelting at Trail, B.C., a few years ago, virtually denuded the area of vegetation, but now is coming back.

NAMES IN THE NEWS

Canada 'A Leader' At Stockholm

Environment Minister Jack Davis claimed credit for Canada's success in the "great success" of the Stockholm world environmental conference, but was roasted by opposition MPs for inadequate anti-pollution programs at home. Mr. Davis, who led the Canadian delegation to the United Nations conference that ended last week, told the Commons its success "was due, in large measure, to the leadership shown by Canada and by Canadians." He cited the work of conference secretary-general Maurice Strong of Canada, and the success his own delegation had in ramming through its proposals for international anti-pollution principles.

American special envoy Henry Kissinger held more than five hours of talks Wednesday in Peking with Premier Chou En-lai, and Chinese leaders were apparently assessing whatever messages or proposals President Nixon's aide has carried from Washington. It is assumed that Vietnam is the major topic in Kissinger's talks with Chou, but diplomats have discounted speculation in Washington that the U.S. envoy might travel to Hanoi.

The British Columbia Association of Non-Status Indians demanded in Vancouver Wednesday that the federal government dismiss B.C. Supreme Court Judge J.C. Gould because of the judge's prejudiced attitude toward native people. Fred House, president of the association, said in a letter to Justice Minister Otto Lang that Mr. Justice Gould showed a prejudiced attitude during a firearms case in Prince George last week when, in passing sentence on an Indian youth, the judge said the incident was another "outstanding tragedy of the Indian people—their inability to handle liquor."

CHOU EN-LAI

Vancouver's new policy of granting only temporary cash assistance to single employable persons for a maximum of 14 days will mean these people won't be able to pay their rent or bills, says Karen Kahn, spokeswoman for the Vancouver Welfare Rights Organization. Miss Kahn said Wednesday the new policy will drive such people, including women, into cheap skid road hotels—the only thing they can get when assistance is given by the day at $3.25 or by the week.

Funeral rites were held Tuesday in Vancouver for seven-year-old Tanya Busch, found slain last Wednesday in Surrey bushland 12 days after disappearing from her home.

Canadian citizens living in British Columbia who are 65 or older as of Aug. 1 will be able to obtain a fishing licence for non-tidal waters for $1, Conservation Minister Ken Kiernan announced Wednesday in Victoria. Regular licence fee is $2.

The transport department will be asked to develop controls on open coal-carrying trains which spew black dust on their way through British Columbia, a spokesman for Environment Minister Jack Davis said today in Ottawa. He said a telegram from B.C. Premier W.A.C. Bennett requesting fast action to end the air-polluting effects of the trains has been received and the proper transport authorities will be asked to create appropriate regulations.

A spokesman for Joy Mining Co. Ltd. said Wednesday the firm has taken out an option on the controversial Del Cielo Heights property near Kamloops. Lawyer Jim McGinnis said the 2,400-acre property is to be used for a commercial and residential development, including a 60-room hotel. He said there will not be a copper smelter or any industrial facility on the land.

Former prime minister John Diefenbaker said Wednesday in Toronto that the real reason for uniting Canada's armed forces "was to bring about an end to Canadians wearing uniforms similar to British uniforms." Mr. Diefenbaker told a reunion dinner of the Dam-busters, the Royal Air Force squadron which knocked out dams on the Ruhr River in Germany 29 years ago, that "those who deride and oppose our traditions are determined to reduce the monarchy to insignificance." Mr. Diefenbaker said he is concerned about the future of the Commonwealth. There also were people in England who did not have the same determination to maintain Commonwealth ties.

External Affairs Minister Mitchell Sharp is expected to visit China this summer to officially open a Canadian trade fair in Peking, it was learned in Ottawa. The fair, largest solo trade-exposition ever staged by Canada abroad, runs for two weeks from Aug. 21. At about the same time, Fal Hsiao-Kuo, Chinese foreign trade minister, will be in Canada to visit the People's Republic's first-ever display at the Canadian National Exhibition in Toronto.

Eldon Woollams (PC-Calgary North) continued to press the government in Ottawa on temporary penitentiary leaves Wednesday, this time tangling with Justice Minister Otto Lang about the sentence given to a convicted British Columbia rapist. It was a continuation of the Tuesday confrontation, when Mr. Woollams asked questions about the temporary release of Charles David Head from Agassiz Mountain prison, and later referred to the weekend death of Tanya Busch, 7, of Surrey. Mr. Woollams had asked about the criteria used in granting temporary leaves to prisoners serving life sentences. Outside the House, Solicitor-General Jean-Pierre Goyer said he thought Head had been sentenced to 15 years, not life.

Eleven female members of the Sons of Freedom Doukhobor sect were remanded in custody in Grand Forks to June 29 when they appeared in provincial court Wednesday charged with nudism. The women were arrested following a sit-in Tuesday night near the home of orthodox Doukhobor leader John Verigin. The sit-in and subsequent disobeying was a protest against the arrest of 15 Sons of Freedom Doukhobors who demonstrated outside Mr. Verigin's home last week. The 15 face charges of public mischief and obstructing police.

Improved fire regulations have been drawn up and are being strictly enforced at Exhibition Park race track, directors of the Pacific National Exhibition were told Wednesday in Vancouver. John Duns-muir, of the PNE racing committee, told a board meeting that the Horsemen's Benevolent and Protective Association—made up of horse owners—drew up a list of regulations last week which were approved by the fire department and the British Columbia Jockey's Club.

A 49-year-old shoe store owner from Beacon, N.Y., was arrested Wednesday in connection with extortion plots against the Cunard luxury liner Queen Elizabeth 2 and American Airlines, the FBI announced. John F. Malone, assistant director in charge of the New York division of the FBI, said Joseph Anthony Landisi was arrested in his store.

Delegates At Welfare Meet Decide To Talk, Not Listen

QUEBEC (CP) — Delegates will talk instead of listen today at the closing session of the Canadian Conference on Social Welfare in the wake of what one delegate described as a struggle between traditional and active groups.

Organizers agreed Wednesday to permit discussion on resolutions on such topics as housing and care for the handicapped. The original plan was that delegates would hear reports.

Many of the nearly 1,000 delegates have shown irritation because the structure of the conference gave them little time to discuss issues.

Delegate Tom Raynor of Montreal said the conference has witnessed a "struggle between traditional and more active" groups.

The traditional groups are content to sit and listen to experts while the more active are tired of this, he said. At a national conference such as this one they want to be able to share and learn from each other's experiences and problems. Earlier Wednesday, a workshop was warned that the native people's frustration with trying to get justice in Canada may end in violence.

Tony Belcourt, president of the Native Council of Canada, said that "confrontations between natives and white people might increase not because we support it but because it might be the only way to bring things into the open."

The native people are mired in poverty in a society that is alien to them and abuses them every time the two conflict.

Mr. Belcourt said the native people have little faith in Canada's courts of police. The police often appear as "an efficient machine to crush the native people."

Indians, Eskimos and Metis make up 60 per cent of the prison population in Canada, he said, although they constitute less than three per cent of the country's population.

Past policies have obviously failed and "it is time for white people to start all over again in dealing with native people," Mr. Belcourt said.

Gabrielle Vallee, of the Quebec Bar, said creating a law for the poor would be a grave injustice.

Poverty is a social problem, she said, and must be treated that way. What poor people need is better accessibility to the courts and justice system and this can only be done by a legal-aid system and community law clinics.

The delegates were also told that the law "like the rest of society, blames the poor for poverty."

Rosemary Brown, a Vancouver social worker and an ombudsman with the status of women council, said "the law seems to say poverty is a crime and must be punished."

The law has to be reformed to get the courts to treat everyone the same, Mrs. Brown said, but first attitudes within the society have to be changed because law makers reflect the values of the major segment of it.

Existing welfare regulations also need to be changed, he said, because they are hard on the dignity of the poor. In many provinces, welfare officers can enter the homes of those on welfare without a warrant and at any time of the day or night "to satisfy themselves that the social welfare recipient is not defrauding the state."

FOUR-YEAR DIPLOMA COURSES IN URBAN LAND ECONOMICS

Commencing early in September, these courses are available by correspondence and lectures through the Faculty of Commerce and Business Administration of the University of British Columbia in co-operation with the Real Estate Council of British Columbia.

These courses, which are distinct from the Real Estate pre-licensing courses, are limited to persons already employed in the vocation of real estate or appraisal, or associated fields.

In the fourth year of the program, four options are offered:

- REAL ESTATE • MORTGAGE LENDING
- APPRAISAL • REAL ESTATE TAX ASSESSMENT

Applications for registration in the first year of the course should be completed by July 31, 1972.

Details and Registration Forms may be obtained from: The Secretary,

REAL ESTATE COUNCIL OF BRITISH COLUMBIA

Undersea Park 'On The Rocks'

VICTORIA (CP)—The undersea park proposed last year for the Strait of Georgia by the federal government has no chance of becoming a reality, Ken Kiernan, recreation and conservation minister, said Wednesday.

In an interview, Mr. Kiernan said the federal plan is "idealistic, but completely ridiculous."

He said the federal government will have to consider the "commercial life in the province."

Lloyd Brooks, deputy minister for recreation and conservation, said some of the five areas included in the original federal proposal included highly developed island areas.

"It was like drawing a string around Victoria and calling it a national park," he said. "It wouldn't really work."

Mr. Kiernan said oil-tanker traffic was just one of the obstacles to the federal proposal.

"There is no realistic basis on which we can eliminate the passage of oil tankers," he said.

Mr. Kiernan said a more realistic program would be to create a cleaner waterway through stricter regulations on coastal shipping.

Improved fire regulations have been drawn up and are being strictly enforced at Exhibition Park race track, directors of the Pacific National Exhibition were told Wednesday in Vancouver. John Duns-muir, of the PNE racing committee, told a board meeting that the Horsemen's Benevolent and Protective Association—made up of horse owners—drew up a list of regulations last week which were approved by the fire department and the British Columbia Jockey's Club.

TODAY'S STOCK QUOTATIONS

Submitted by Pemberton Securities Ltd.
1654 Ellis St.

TORONTO (CP) — Western oil issues on the Toronto stock market remained fractionally higher in moderate mid-morning trading today while prices in other sectors drifted fractionally lower.

The industrial index was down .07 to 203.56, golds 48 to 210.55 and base metals 25 to 94.84. Western oils were up .43 to 236.96.

Volume by 11 a.m. was 517,000 shares, down from 585,000 at the same time Wednesday.

Oil refining, pipeline, beverage, food processing, trust and loan and chemical issues moved moderately lower while banking, paper and forest, communication and steel stocks climbed higher.

READY FOR THE MARITIMES

Seventeen Central Okanagan secondary school students will leave July 21 for Moncton, New Brunswick, under the Young Voyageur program. The federal-provincial travel exchange program began in 1964. It is to give the group an opportunity to meet, know and develop a closer understanding of Canadians living and working in other regions of Canada. The students travelling are (back row, left to right) Pat Sessford, Milton Black, Brad Chudiak, Phil

Valley Deaf Camp Set Up Under Grant

A summer camp for deaf children and those hard of hearing, has been formed through a $3,700 Opportunity for Youth Grant, to several Kelowna students.

The camp, with grounds donated by the Gyo Club, is situated near Lumby, at Mable Lake. There will be two two-week sessions, with the first starting June 28.

Director of the camp, Beverly Jakeman, teaches pre-school deaf children at Bankhead Elementary School in Kelowna. There are four Kelowna students who are employed through the grant. They are Jerilyn Blackmer, 17, Mary Lanzinger, 20, Susan Kaerme, 16 and Doris Beauregard.

Volunteers from Kelowna are Fay Morrison, Debra Ston, and Tim Anheliger.

Miss Lanzinger said the camp will give parents of the handicapped children a break, and provide a vacation full of fun for the children.

The children will come from all over B.C., but the majority will be from the Okanagan, she said. The youngest child is three, while the oldest is 16, she added.

Several groups will be coming to the camp to provide entertainment.

A theatre mime group, and community resources group from Kelowna, which will help with crafts and art, will be there. Hiking and teaching of pottery is also on the agenda.

Miss Lanzinger said the children will receive "a lot of personal attention, on a one-to-one basis," through the counsellors and volunteers.

The camp is situated on a lake, with a large beach available. The group hopes to have a pony available to the children. There is an A-frame building, a large tent which sleeps about 20 people, and various smaller tents for crafts. There is no electricity, but gas will be used, and a radio telephone has been made available.

Parents of the children will supply the transportation, with a van donated by the Lions Club of Vernon, bringing the children up to the camp.

The students involved in the program have appealed to the public for donations of funds and sports equipment; both land and water, ropes, and any craft supplies. Equipment can be returned. Application forms to attend the camp are available from Beverly Jakeman.

Possibility Of Farm Land Use Seen For Septic Tank Effluent

Directors of the Regional District of Central Okanagan got their verbal feet wet again on the seemingly indisputable discussion of septic tank effluent.

After a 20-minute examination of a report by a committee appointed by the board to investigate suitable disposal sites, the board, Wednesday, decided to accept the study findings with further feedback at the next meeting.

The committee suggested septic tank effluent "should be disposed of on agricultural land, fenced and covered within 48 hours to meet health regulations. It was also recommended a site "would be required" on the west and east sides of the lake to serve the two areas.

Composed of Peachland Mayor Harold Thwait, Mayor Hilbert Roth, Mel Marshall and Dudley Pritchard, the committee suggested publication of an advertisement requesting submissions from interested agricultural land owners for use of their land as effluent disposal sites.

The committee estimated about 20 truck loads of effluent a day would be delivered to a chosen site, and recommended two dollars per load be charged to septic tank operators for service rendered by the land owner.

This was later changed on a suggestion by chairman W. C. Bennett that the term "fee" be substituted instead of a fixed sum of money which, he added, should be left to the discretion of the land owner.

The committee also recommended effluent would have to be disposed of in a manner conforming with provincial health regulations, which required the material be "trenched and covered within 48 hours to prevent the breeding of flies."

In answer to a query from James Stuart on who was going to enforce the rules, regional administrator, A. T. Harrison, said there was some conflict of responsibility between the health unit and the water rights branch.

Both agencies felt responsible for policing disposal sites, he added.

IN COURT

A Rutland couple, Shawn Patrick Wallace and Susan Dalton, were found guilty in county court Wednesday of possession of six and one half ounces of hashish with intent to traffic. The case was remanded for sentencing to June 30.

David Elvy Grant of Grandin had a charge of impaired driving remanded to June 26 for plea.

May Order Trees Removed If Spray Orders Ignored

Derelict trees will go if the board of the Regional District of Central Okanagan can get them out of the way.

A bylaw gives the right to order trees sprayed, and the owners charged for it, when owners don't spray them within 72 hours of being ordered to do it. Trees may also be removed.

James Stuart, director for East and Southeast Kelowna, said there are large blocks of derelict trees in his area, and the same person offends year after year. Mr. Stuart was in favor of cutting them down with a bulldozer.

"This policy should have been started before there were subdivisions," commented M. W. Marshall, referring to problems in Rutland, his area. He would favor using chain saws instead of bulldozers where there were only a few trees.

"People could stand in front of bulldozers," reminded Heinz Koetz, director for Ellison-Belgo.

The matter came up when a letter of resignation was read from noxious insect inspector Ben Greening, effective June 30. Mr. Harrison said Mr. Greening has taken another job, and efforts have started to find another inspector, who will work until Aug. 31.

Westbank representative Andrew Duncan made a motion to the board when spray orders are not observed. The board could then order them removed, thus protecting the staff. This passed, with opposition by Mayor Harold Thwait of Peachland. He said the bylaw gave the necessary authority.

Those pesky mosquitoes will come under board control next summer. Directors have talked several times about this matter.

"Several people have suggested we have mosquito control," said Kolin Lamont, who represents Okanagan Mission-Cedar Creek.

"I agree," said chairman W. C. Bennett.

"We are compiling a report on materials and equipment," answered Mr. Harrison. "But the district letters patent would have to be changed, and this could not be done until next year."

Admissions at Kelowna General Hospital during May increased by 39 this year from 600 in 1971 to 639 for the comparison month in 1972.

The rise is reflected in total in-patients to date of 2,969 from 2,796 for the same period in 1971. There were 5,472 patient days during May this year as against 5,150 for the same period in 1971, and 26,251 to date this year compared to 25,781 for the corresponding period in 1971.

Average day's stay during May fell from 9.1 last year to 8.8 this year, with 8.9 this year to date as against 9.1 in 1971. Newborns rose by one this year during May from 73 last year to 74 this year, with births to date this year equalling the same number as last year at 329.

Out-patients climbed from 1,822 during May last year to 3,168 this year. With 13,016 to date this year compared to 12,937 for the same period in 1971.

Leisure Travel Routes ... Consideration Needed

Provision of trails for cyclists Wednesday, the board received a brief from the Kelowna Recreation Riding Club. It urged trails be set up through subdivisions and District of Central Okanagan, people be paid for land.

Mayor Questioning City Welfare Cost

Mayor Hilbert Roth is determined to rid the city of welfare costs.

He has asked council to consider a resolution to the annual meeting of the Union of B.C. Municipalities which calls for the provincial government to absorb those costs through the amalgamation of municipal and provincial welfare services.

Roughly $75,000 a month is spent by the city's Social Services Department, but only about 15 per cent of that is a direct cost to Kelowna taxpayers. The city foots the whole bill initially, but is paid back through a cost-sharing arrangement with the provincial and federal governments.

A total of $1.2 million was set aside in the city's 1972 budget for welfare services and the rebate on that will amount to about $800,000.

Council has gone on record before as opposing municipal participation in welfare services. Last month it rejected a call by UBCM president, Ald. Ernie Broome, of Vancouver, to have the municipal share reduced from 15 to ten per cent.

They sent a letter to Phil Gagliardi, minister of rehabilitation and social improvement, saying that the UBCM resolution didn't meet with the philosophy of the City of Kelowna that no municipality should pay the cost of welfare.

Council's "philosophy," however, doesn't quite meet with that of the city's Social Services administrator, Tom Hamilton. He feels citizens have a responsibility towards less fortunate members of the community and doesn't look upon his job as simply doling out taxpayers' money.

Mr. Hamilton has no objections to the senior governments playing a bigger part in such things as roads and sewers, "but the thing that makes a community is people and a big part of that is people helping people."

"Do we want to run our own domain or have we lost our pride? I feel we have a direct responsibility to look after the less fortunate members of our community."

Operating out of a small building adjacent to the health unit on Queensway, Mr. Hamilton and two qualified male social workers provide money, food, clothing and counselling as part of a service which has been operated by the city for about 25 years.

"For some time now we have been concerned with the safety of riders, cyclists and walkers," said the brief, read by Mrs. George Chalmers. "Mushrooming subdivisions and rapidly increasing traffic are severely restricting riders and hikers who once enjoyed quiet country roads."

According to the brief, slides of highways are not safe or suitable for riding or walking, and highways are not safe for cyclists. The need for people to go far afield to enjoy riding adds to traffic problems because horses or bicycles must be carried in trailers.

It was also pointed out leisure time is increasing and more money is being spent on teaching leisure activities.

Directors M. W. Marshall of Rutland and D. A. Pritchard of Westbank said trails are provided in some subdivisions.

"We need a subdivision by-law," suggested Mayor Harold Thwait of Peachland.

"Trails should be part of a regional parks system," commented planner D. W. Barham.

"We are getting short of recreational land," said Heinz Koetz, director of Ellison-Belgo. "People should be compensated for land," said James Stuart, East and Southeast Kelowna. "The provincial government took land for highways and paid nothing."

On motion of Eoin Lamont, Okanagan Mission-Cedar Creek, the matter was referred to the parks and recreation committee. Later he was named to the committee, along with Mr. Pritchard and Andrew Duncan.

On another matter concerning places for walking or riding, the board will ask the B.C. highways department to pave both highway shoulders where this is done.

Mr. Lamont said one shoulder of the main road was paved in Okanagan Mission. This means that, instead of facing traffic, walkers or riders face each other. "We are going to have another incident like Winfield," he said, referring to a child being hit by a vehicle there.

Safety Group Also Concerned With Plight Of Pedestrians

Vice-president Cliff Wilson said the attitude of some pedestrians was of "complete bloody arrogance," as the Kelowna and District Safety Council scrutinized crosswalks Wednesday.

But Ken Preston, senior traffic officer, said some motorists don't realize the definition of a cross walk by law means the continuation of a sidewalk.

Both he and William Treadgold felt there should be crosswalk wardens in all school areas where the crosswalks could not be policed by school children.

The safety council also expressed concern at the boat launching site, situated near Hobson Road. Some boats were coming in too close to swimmers, when they dropped off water skiers and the council was concerned for the swimmers' safety.

Mr. Treadgold said the safety council had contacted the regional district about the problem but they "don't appear to be interested," he said. "We have done as much as we can," he added.

He said "extreme discipline is needed, but 'who we pass the ball to, I don't know.'"

Janet Harland, school trustee, noted the three school bicycle training sessions have been completed, and plans are on for more.

A letter was read from Drew Craig, principal of Raymer Avenue School who suggested some ideas to help the safety council on the next bicycle course.

Mr. Craig suggested, the fees be dropped, the equipment used be made available through the safety council or school board, and make a submission to Canada Manpower for a local initiative program grant to provide a team to put on an annual bicycle program in each school.

It was also recommended both city and regional council be approached to consider providing bike licences and annual bike safety checks.

A hospital report was given by Ken McCready on the accidents treated at the local hospital. Mr. McCready broke down according to location, sex and age of patients for the month of May.

Cpl. Dave McCloy, from the RCMP, gave a report on accidents involving motor vehicles. It was noted speed was the major contributing factor to all motor vehicle accidents.

A. L. (Scotty) Freebairn from the department of highways, mentioned the more highways were improved, the faster motorists travel over them. It was generally agreed by various members of the council, drivers should change their habits to prevent accidents.

The RCMP were praised for putting out a booklet available to the public on highlights of Kelowna Traffic Regulations.

Public Behind Pilots

Despite the fact that the American airline pilots did not participate in the one-day work stoppage on Monday, the world pilots surely made their point: that strong and effective measures must be taken against air hijacking and other air crimes. But it is one thing to say that something must be done and quite another to solve the dilemma faced by all governments—and particularly those of the liberal Western democracies—in trying to suppress this type of crime.

When there are political or humanitarian motives for a hijacking, all countries have become inclined to the view that the end justified the means. In the West, a hijacker from a Communist country tends to be admired for his daring and initiative in escaping what we choose to regard as tyranny; similarly Algerians and Cubans admire those who commandeer aircraft in flight and seek political refuge with them.

Such attitudes are no longer acceptable. The time has come for the world to face the truth that aerial piracy is absolutely intolerable, a crime for which no mitigation on the ground of motive can be allowed.

The reasons are obvious. There is no other crime in which so many innocent lives are made hostage to the objectives of the criminal; none that takes place in circumstances as liable to disaster as those of an aircraft in flight. This almost complete vulnerability is the essential attraction of hijacking. The only remedy for it is harsh deterrence by the authorities on the ground.

Would recent hijackings have taken place if the hijackers had known beforehand that they would be returned without question to the authorities of the country where they embarked? This would not stop all hijacking, a crime that attracts a peculiarly paranoid type of criminal, but it would at least deter the political hijacker who is sane though desperate.

In the face of government inaction, the world's airline pilots stopped work on Monday. While this kind of arbitrary private action is disquieting, the pilots had a powerful case in justification. Their first responsibility is the security of their passengers and planes, and this is plainly being neglected by the authorities who make the rules they fly by. If they can get action by temporarily paralyzing the world's airlines, there cannot be many people who would object—certainly not those who have to use air travel.

Almost Carbon Copy

Substitute tomatoes for oil, the Colorado River for the Great Lakes, draft evaders for "wetbacks," and visiting Mexican President Luis Echeverria's list of problems with the U.S. could be almost a carbon copy of Canadian differences, says a Canadian Press report from Washington.

But unlike any visiting head of state in recent history, Echeverria used the traditionally ceremonial occasion of a formal state visit to put his cards on the table.

He was remarkably blunt in his address to Congress and the Organization of American States and apparently he spoke his mind in private talks with President Nixon.

"It's not always the case when we say it," reported White House press secretary Ronald Ziegler after the two presidents met, "but without question there was a great degree of candor and frankness in the discussion."

But Echeverria seemed to have made a good impression. Congress applauded enthusiastically, particularly when the visitor—contrasting continuing U.S.-Mexican problems with U.S. summit talks in Peking and Moscow—said:

"It is impossible to understand why the United States does not use the same boldness and imagination that it applies to solving complex problems with its enemies to the solution of simple problems with friends."

And even before he departed Washington for visits elsewhere in the U.S., Nixon pledged the U.S. would take immediate action to reduce the salt content of the Colorado waters flowing into Mexico. He also agreed to studies of problems of migratory Mexican workers who come to the U.S.

The U.S. is committed under treaty to supply Mexico with 1.5 billion acre-feet of water a year but the Mexicans charge that the salt content, resulting from irrigation projects in the U.S. has drastically cut agricultural production in the valley of Mexicali.

While many Americans are displeased with Canada for providing a "haven" for draft evaders, the problem of "wetbacks" is the reverse. Nixon is concerned with limiting the number of such illegal Mexican migrants—an estimated 380,000 were deported to Mexico last year but many were not caught, Mexico, however, with high unemployment, is less anxious to control the exodus; its main concern is that they receive humane treatment.

As with Canada, trade is a prime concern since the U.S. also is Mexico's largest customer. While Mexico is trying to reduce its economic dependence on Washington, and has recently sent trade missions to many countries, the realities of the present situation are such that it has been hurt by the protectionist trends in the U.S.

Does Canada Have Empire?

By JOHN HARBON
Foreign Affairs Analyst
Thomson News Service

Is there a Canadian empire? Black militancy rising in number and power in the Commonwealth Caribbean, insist it exists. They want to deal with it in the same way extremist Latin American governments have taken over the American empire.

To the radical nationalist, the empire, American or Canadian, is made up of multi-national financial and commercial interests which dominate small nations but are centred in one of the major industrial states.

Such United States giants of banking and industry as the Chase Manhattan Bank, Anaconda Copper Co., Coca-Cola Co. are well-known multi-national corporations with profitable subsidiaries in many of the countries of the Western Hemisphere.

But in Jamaica and the Dominican Republic, for example, the otherwise giant Chase Manhattan Bank is very small potatoes compared to local branches of Canadian chartered banks. The Bank of Nova Scotia Jamaica Ltd. is a company chartered in that island country. And in the Dominican Republic, Canadian banks have more branches than all the American and local Dominican banks put together.

Last year, the government of Guyana—the former British South American crown colony of British Guiana—nationalized the $150 million operations of Alcan, the Aluminum Co. of Canada. And Alcan is concerned the newly elected, more left-wing Jamaican government of Mr. Manley could take similar action against Alcan's major Jamaican facilities.

During 1970, Canadian private enterprise in the Commonwealth Caribbean experienced physical attack and burnings from extremists who wanted an end to "Canadian domination" of many of the local factors of production.

This is a familiar theme to our Canadian nationalists who want controls placed over American and other foreign subsidiaries in Canada, which also dominate the Canadian factors of production.

The fact is, a Canadian empire does exist, not only in the Caribbean, but in Latin American countries where a few Canadian multi-national companies dominate in the power, transport and some consumer industries.

Will their international management cope more successfully with violent social change than have the Americans? Or will events overwhelm them too? A certain softness in the relationships between Ottawa and somewhat strident Commonwealth Caribbean nations—because we are all in the Commonwealth—can no longer be anticipated.

In time, Canadian private enterprise abroad will have to engage in joint ventures with local management and capital, often with partners not of our choosing.

The only major difference between the fate of the American empire and our own appears to be timing. Nationalism abroad attacked the U.S. private corporations overseas before the Canadian.

Perhaps we will learn a few lessons from American failures.

Wages-And-Price-Controls Plan Won't Work, Says C of C Chief

MONTREAL (CP)—C. H. Scofield, general manager of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce, says the organization generally is opposed to price and wage controls.

Commenting on a report made to Parliament that temporary wage and price controls may be necessary before long in the fight against inflation, Mr. Scofield said:

"All the evidence suggests that such methods are not likely to succeed unless a crisis exists or there is a national consensus, though the chamber supports the idea of taking steps to a contingency plan if a crisis or consensus exists."

"Some of our members are saying that we should have controls, but I think they are in a minority."

G. Arnold Hart, chairman of the Bank of Montreal, said controls would be the last weapon the government would want to resort to.

"Frankly, in my opinion, they won't work."

Mr. Hart said that when con-

B.C. Students Head For P.Q.

VANCOUVER (CP)—One hundred British Columbia high school students will leave Monday for a two week Quebec visit.

The annual student exchange program, sponsored by the Canadian Council of Christians and Jews, in co-operation with the secretary of state, gives English-speaking students an opportunity to live in a French-speaking home.

At the end of the two weeks, the Quebec hosts will accompany the B.C. students home, and spend two weeks in an English-speaking home.

About 40,000 students have taken part in the program in the last 18 years.

The Canadian Council of Christians and Jews subsidizes the project with a $160,000 grant. The federal government gives a group rate reduction for the students to travel across the country by train.

The B.C. contingent will be joined en route by other students from across the country. All are selected for the program by their teachers. More than 3,000 Canadian students are taking part in the exchange program this year.

OUR ECONOMY

A Businessman's Eye View Often Bleak In Politics

By FRANK FLAHERTY
Financial Affairs Analyst
Thomson News Service

OTTAWA—Some discerning political scientist ought to write a book on the role of the businessmen in Canadian politics. A number have come to the top or nearly the top.

Most have been disappointed and expressed their disappointment either by quietly dropping out or by a dramatic display of dissent with either the prime minister who put them in his cabinet or the governmental establishment in general. At least one formed a political party of his own and failed to win office.

The latest is Eric Klerans, a powerful figure in Quebec provincial politics and in the federal sphere during the early years of the Trudeau government. When he failed to get his ideas across, he left the cabinet and now sits as a private member on the Liberal side of the House and acts as critic of the Trudeau regime.

Other notable examples in recent years have been Walter Gordon who capped a brilliant business career by being finance minister in the Pearson administration and lasted two years. Back in the 1930s, Prime Minister R. B. Bennett chose a Vancouver businessman, Harry Stevens, as his minister of trade and commerce. Stevens had ideas about how to end the then prevailing depression which Bennett couldn't accept. Stevens resigned or was dismissed, formed the Reconstruction Party and contested the next election but won only one seat—his own.

Dissatisfaction with the way the business system functions, and what the government can or should do about it, is the one common factor in the careers of these front-bench ministers. Stevens worried about the gobbling up or strangling of small businesses by big corporations. Gordon worried about foreign ownership of Canadian businesses, still a m p a i g n against it as the spark plug of the Committee for an Independent Canada.

Klerans' quarrel with the status quo is that there is too much attention given to development and job creation on the short run, not enough to conservation and maximization of benefits from Canada's resources over the long pull. He appears to agree with Gordon on foreign ownership but regards that as only one aspect of a larger problem.

FAVORS FREE TRADE

Asked what he would do if he were prime minister, he recently said he would protect Canadian monopolists instead of American and switch from one to the other. Canada should move towards free trade and so eliminate the need for American firms to establish branch plants here.

This would cause an outflow of American dollars and reduce the value of the Canadian dollar—all to the good, because Canadians would then invest more of their own money in developing Canadian resources.

He wouldn't be in such a hurry as governments now seem to be to develop natural resources for export. To the extent Canadians concentrate on that, rather than on production of consumer goods for Canadians themselves, somebody else will supply them with manufactured goods which means jobs in other countries, not in Canada.

Klerans doesn't suggest government policy makers don't know all this. He does suggest that they get the wrong advice.

British Justice Gets Reprimand

LONDON (CP)—Robert Mark, the new commissioner of London's metropolitan police force, said Tuesday night British justice is "ineffective to an alarming and harmful extent" in dealing with professional criminals.

It shows results "only in dealing with the complaint, the work of the courts, the lawyers and the spontaneous wrongdoer who comprise the vast majority of cases," Mark told the Royal Society of Medicine in a speech.

Only a small proportion of persons acquitted by juries are likely to be innocent in the true sense of the word, the commissioner said.

The Daily Telegraph, in an editorial today, notes that the shortcomings of justice would be to remove what he considers the excessive protection now given to the accused.

"There should be no retreat from the maxim that the first business of a judge and jury is to ensure that the innocent are acquitted."

For his part, the commissioner called for "abandonment of the present entitlement of a suspected or accused person to take no part whatsoever in the establishment of truth."

CRAZY CRICKET

GREAT BRITAIN, England (CP)—It looked as though the village cricket club when its ground was bought by an American. But when ex-US Army colonel Stephen Gulyans came to live on his newly-acquired Suffolk estate which included the cricket green, he told the local sportsman: "You can enjoy it with your crazy game, I may not know much about cricket but I'll be able to watch it from the bottom of my garden."

from the wrong people.

Government economists belong to the same clubs as economists for the big corporations. They talk to one another. They tend to favor expansion and heavy investment which means continuing inflation, along with unemployment and can lead to a pegging of the Canadian dollar with price and wage controls.

He favors jobs now, rather than expansion for jobs later on. For that purpose, he calls for a variety of flexible policies to make jobs available rather than heavy capital investment in projects which may produce jobs later on.

CAPITAL COMMENT

Castonguay Says: I'm Not Needed

By FARMER TISSINGTON
Ottawa Bureau
of the Kelowna Courier

Nelson Castonguay probably is the only federal public servant in Canada who has recommended that the government dispend with his services. He told a Commons' committee a couple of years ago that the government didn't require his services.

He had retired as Canada's chief electoral officer and was subsequently re-engaged as the first federal representation commissioner. He undertook his new duties and, at the same time, assisted the new chief electoral officer through the general election of 1968. Then he was commissioned by the government to report on the feasibility of Canada establishing a permanent voters' list. He travelled to Australia to study their system.

Once this work was concluded, Mr. Castonguay found himself at loose ends. As representation commissioner, he only is really busy following each 10-year census when, by law, the boundaries of the federal ridings must be redrawn to bring their size and their population into some sort of balance.

He told the Commons' committee on privileges and elections they should do away with his job and solve the cost of his salary. The committee never did get around to acting on his suggestion.

Now, Mr. Castonguay is busy preparing for the next redistribution. It should be completed about the end of 1973 for the general election some time thereafter.

SYSTEM WAS CHANGED

In the past, Canada's riding boundaries were redrawn at intervals with the members of Parliament handling the details themselves. This led to bitter and partisan juggling as MPs tried to draw their own riding boundaries to their own best advantage. This system changed with the passage of the Electoral Boundaries Adjustment Act of 1963. Ten independent and non-partisan tribunals, one for each province, were given the task.

The wheels have begun to turn for the second redistribution under the new system. Tribunals must be established and ready to function by July 1. This second one is going to see some drastic revisions brought about by the constantly shifting population in Canada. In the last redistribution, only four of the 264 ridings emerged unchanged. Chances are the same thing will happen this time.

The population shifts will mean that Newfoundland, Nova Scotia, Manitoba and Saskatchewan will all lose one of their seats and Quebec will lose two. The provinces to gain seats are Ontario which will go from 88 to 91 members and British Columbia which will go from 23 to 26.

Even after the new redistribution there will be many anomalies. Prince Edward Island, for example, is guaranteed four members of Parliament under the constitution, the same number as they have senators. But the entire province has a population of less than 122,000 and there are 32 city ridings which have a greater population than P.E.I., led by that giant, York-Scarborough in the Toronto area, with 193,000 people.

And what of Nelson Castonguay once his work is finished late next year? He'll probably tell the committee to fire him and save the expense of his salary.

CANADA'S STORY

Victoria Bridge Once A Wonder

BNY BOB BOWMAN

Victoria Bridge across the St. Lawrence River at Montreal looks out-dated now, but it once was regarded as the eighth wonder of the world. The first stone was laid June 22, 1854, and the bridge was opened officially by Edward, Prince of Wales, in 1860.

The original bridge was tubular, like a covered bridge, and was the first to span the St. Lawrence. It was built for the Grand Trunk Railway at a cost of $7 million and was almost two miles long. Although the bridge was very narrow, it could handle 100 trains a day.

Even so, Montreal grew so rapidly that much wider bridge was needed 40 years later and the new structure was built around the old without obstructing traffic. The rebuilding took 18 months and during that time traffic was delayed only once, for two hours.

Montreal was rapidly becoming Canada's leading city in those days. During the 40 years of the original Victoria Bridge, the population increased from 60,000 to 350,000.

Real progress began in 1830 when Montreal formed its first harbor commission with authority to spend $4,000 to improve the docks. The shipping channel from Quebec was charted and marked with lights and buoys.

Progress was delayed between 1832 and 1836 by a cholera plague. This was caused to some extent by open ditches along the streets into which the citizens poured their garbage. By 1836 this situation had been improved and Montreal also got its first street lights which burned whale oil.

Another step forward in 1836 was the opening of Canada's first passenger railway. It ran between Laprairie, across the river from Montreal, to St. John on the Richelieu River, a distance of 15 miles.

Biggest British Passenger Ships To Join Forces On North Atlantic

LONDON (CP)—Britain's

two biggest passenger liners, Cunard's Queen Elizabeth 2 and the P. and O. line's Canberra, will join forces on the North Atlantic run for the first time next year in a new marketing link between the two steamship companies.

The 45,000-ton Canberra has been on the Australian run and cruising since going into service in 1961. It will continue to be used for cruising, like the 65,000-ton QE2, outside the transatlantic season.

There have been published speculations of a possible merger between Cunard, the line founded by Sam Cunard of Halifax in 1840, and the equally historic Peninsular and Oriental Steam Navigation Co., once Britain's imperial lifeline to India and the East.

But Victor Matthews, head of the real estate company which took over Cunard last year, has said he further links are contemplated with P. and O. "But from a working relationship other things can develop," the Cunard chairman added.

James Davies, markets director of P. and O., while now boasts the world's biggest passenger fleet—nearly all cruise liners—said no closer links with Cunard are yet envisaged, but with a move "don't necessarily make nonsense."

The Canberra, which has a passenger capacity of 2,200, will be based in New York next year and will follow the same pattern of operation as the QE2, spending the summer on the Atlantic and the winter cruising in the Caribbean.

The move follows a decision by P. and O. to withdraw from most of its line voyages and concentrate on cruising. It also is selling off some of its older ships, and streamlining its manpower.

Since Cunard chopped its Canadian service in 1968 and sold the two older queen liners, the QE2 has been the line's only passenger ship on the Atlantic run.

Succession Taxes Bill Approved In Manitoba

By THE CANADIAN PRESS
The Manitoba legislature passed bills Wednesday to institute a succession duty and gift tax.

When it receives royal assent, the legislation will be retroactive to Jan. 1, the date the federal government abandoned its rights over the estate tax field.

All opposition members present voted against the measures. J. M. Froese (SC-Rhineland) said investment in Manitoba will be lessened by the tax and capital will go instead to provinces such as Alberta, which has no such tax, or British Columbia, which he said intends to abandon it at the end of the year.

Finance Minister Saul Cherniack said the effects of the bills will be studied along with the variations in other provinces' estate taxes. The province's position will be reassessed in light of the findings, he said.

The succession-duty legislation is expected to provide $4 million in revenue this year. Estates passing between spouses will carry an exemption of $200,000 while preferred beneficiaries, such as sons or daughters, will share an exemption of $150,000.

In Charlottetown, Prince Edward Island Premier Alex Campbell said outside the legislature his government will reassess its policy and even its participation in the gift tax and succession duty field, with a decision by the legislature probably by next spring.

Some provincial governments have departed from positions taken last fall in Jasper, Alta., when all provinces except Alberta indicated they intended to continue succession duties and establish gift taxes at the expiration of a federal program Dec. 31, 1971, he said.

Saskatchewan, Manitoba, New Brunswick, Nova Scotia, Prince Edward Island and Newfoundland tried to develop uniform acts, Mr. Campbell said, but since then Nova Scotia and New Brunswick had amended their acts, Ontario was restudying its legislation and British Columbia had questioned its own future participation.

Mr. Campbell said his province will gain only about $80,000 a year in revenue from the taxes, but imposed them in agreement with other provinces because "we did not wish to establish a haven... for the purpose of attracting wealthy Canadians away from their native provinces."

James Russell, Speaker of the Newfoundland legislature, objected when Steve Neary (L-Bell Island) waved two dead fish in the house.

Mr. Neary was arguing the case of two fishermen who arrived in front of the legislature building with 10,000 pounds of unsold cod fish. Fisheries Minister Roy Cheeseman later told the house a trawler will be sent to pick up fish caught on the eastern coast where fish plants have been unable to process a large catch.

Quebec ombudsman Louis Marceau criticized two government operations which cause his office to receive many complaints.

He told the national assembly the voluntary-deposits law, which allows insolvent debtors to place a portion of their salaries with a court clerk for distribution to creditors, has been poorly administered and some persons end up paying double their debts.

He also said the roads department's expropriation system should have standards set for assessing the value of expropriated land. He charged that the current system of price negotiations delays settlements and favors those who can argue longest.

In Toronto, Albert Roy (L-Ottawa East) criticized aspects of Ontario's legal system. He said there were "two or three years" delay in some Supreme Court proceedings and cited this as a reason for witnesses' reluctance to testify.

He called for the abolition of grand juries, noting they had complained for 25 years about Ottawa's jail but produced no results until very recently.

Mr. Roy also complained that in Ottawa many French-speaking people had their trials conducted in English and he demanded this be changed.

Multi-Millionaire Arraigned On Pyramid-Selling Charge

FLINT, Mich. (AP) — Multi-millionaire Glenn W. Turner was arraigned Wednesday on charges of conspiracy to cheat and defraud in connection with a pyramid-selling scheme known as Dare To Be Great.

Turner, 37, and his brother, Larry, 29, both of Maitland, Fla., turned themselves in to the Genesee County prosecutor after flying in from London.

Genesee circuit Judge Anthony Mansour set bond at $2,500 each and said a trial date would be set after all 30 persons named in a grand jury indictment had been arraigned. Police are still seeking six defendants.

The indictment charges that Dare To Be Great was a chain-letter type of pyramid scheme to sell the firm's franchises and that the defendants conspired to cheat and defraud by obtaining money under false pretences.

The alleged conspiracy was said to have occurred in at least 11 Michigan counties.

hope who otherwise wouldn't have it."

Referring to Michigan Attorney-General Frank Kelley, whose consumer fraud division joined in the investigation with county authorities, Turner said: "Kelley is just like a pebble. He makes a few ripples—but next year they'll be gone."

At a news conference last week, Kelley and Prosecutor Robert Leonard said a major phase of the scheme is the seminars during which prospective "customers" are taken to a central location, usually a deluxe motel or hotel, and subjected to prolonged and intensive high-pressure sales pitch.

During the seminars, they said, representatives of Dare To Be Great deliver glowing accounts of the money to be earned through the sale of franchises and regularly introduce persons who are presented as having made large amounts of money in the program.

DENIES THE CHARGES
After his court appearance, Turner denied the charges.

"There is nothing to them," he told reporters. "Dare To Be Great is like a fountain of youth. It gives a lot of people

TOP DROPOUTS
LONDON (CP) — Top business executives are beginning to quit their firms "to do their own thing," says management expert Dr. Tom Bier. In a business publication article, he claims that men, dissatisfied with large salaries, pressures and golden handshakes, "are dropping out, preferring a quiet village business or even an early retirement."

Pensioners Seek $150 Monthly

CAMPBELL RIVER, B.C. (CP)—A bid for a $150 monthly basic federal pension is the main resolution before a three-day convention of British Columbia pensioners which began here Wednesday.

The 146 delegates of the Old Age Pensioners Organization, representing 17,000 members, will vote on that and 73 other resolutions.

The present monthly pension is $80 plus a fluctuating bonus based on cost of living increases.

The OAPO also will advocate lowering of medical costs and charges for nursing homes, president Vincent Yates of Vancouver predicted.

"We're not begging, not asking for charity," he said. "We're asking for a just reward for the services we have rendered to this country in making it what it is today. We've made many sacrifices."

In the bid for cheaper nursing homes, Mr. Yates cited costs ranging from $300 to $800 monthly.

A couple's life savings can go out the window if one person takes ill," he said. "If they had spent their money by having a good time all their lives, welfare would pay for everything. The system penalizes thrift."

Speakers today include Municipal Affairs Minister Dan Campbell, Tom Barnett, Comox-Alberni MP, and Isabel Dawson, minister without portfolio.

Bride's Parents Observe Anniversary At Wedding

When Colcen Anne Beliveau exchange marriage vows with Delmar Duane Purnell of Armstrong on June 17th it was the 28th wedding anniversary of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Beliveau of Kelowna. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Moval Purnell of Kelowna.

President Raymond Warden conducted the double-ring ceremony in The Church of Jesus Christ of the Latter Day Saints of Kelowna amidst a setting of summer flowers. Mrs. H. E. Stunford of Winfield presided at the organ for the late afternoon ceremony.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose an A-line gown of nylon lined acetate taffeta, styled on empire lines. Small yellow ribbons were entwined through the bodice, sleeves and flounced hemline. Her cathedral length veil was held in place with a dainty cluster rose and tiny blossoms surrounded with a design of sparkling teardrops.

She carried a cascade bouquet of yellow sweetheart roses. Something new was her crisp wedding gown, something borrowed were cultured pearl earrings from her matron of honor. A blue garter completed the rhyme. A lucky sixpence was tucked into her shoe.

The matron of honor, Mrs. Jim Thompson of Kelowna, wore a yellow A-line gown of floral sheer and bridesmaids, Diane Smith, Debbie Blackie and Della Purnell, all of Kelowna, wore identical gowns of green tulle. The attendants carried dainty bouquets of summer daisies and wore white floppy brimmed hats, gifts from the bride.

NAVY, YELLOW
Glen Pedersen of Kelowna was best man and usher, all of Kelowna, were Ed Mitchell, Gary Purnell, brother of the groom and Brian Beliveau, brother of the bride. They wore navy single breasted suits with yellow shirts and white ties.

For the reception which followed at the Elks' hall, the bride's mother received the guests wearing a formal length A-line gown of soft yellow crepe with long sheer puffy sleeves. Her corsage of white carnations was tinted with yellow.

The groom's mother chose a formal length A-line gown of pale green polyester georgette with long sleeves. Her corsage of white carnations was trimmed with pale green.

A round three-tiered wedding cake with yellow rosettes was topped with white ribbons. Three candelabra flanked the cake and the bridal bouquets added color.

A small arrangement of mums graced the ends of the table. Jack Thompson proposed the toast to the bride and Glen Pedersen to the bride's attendants. Mr. Thompson was also emcee for the evening with John Beliveau, brother of the bride, in charge of the guest book. Art Henshaw entertained for the dance which followed.

BANFF HONEYMOON

For her going away outfit the bride changed to a smart navy and white sailor outfit, with white accessories. After a honeymoon at Banff and Calgary, the couple will make their home at Armstrong.

Out-of-town guests were: brothers of the bride, Allan Beliveau of North Delta; Richard and Mrs. Beliveau of Burnaby and Ron of Vernon; Mr. and Mrs. Les Chato of Sicamous; Mr. and Mrs. Jack Cooper, Trail; Mr. and Mrs. H. Hill, Penticton; Mr. and Mrs. Earl Kennedy, Calgary; Mr. and Mrs. Rod Miester, Coquitlam; Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Purnell, Calgary and Mr. and Mrs. Wally Sapach, North Burnaby.

weds will reside at 3413 20th Ave., Vernon.

Out-of-town guests were Elsie Whartian and Mrs. Jo Newman, Regina, Sask.; Mr. and Mrs. Vic Friesen and Judi Hienricks, Swift Current, Sask.; Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Seward, Slave Lake, Alta.; Gloria Nish, Edmonton; Mrs. Lloyd Wilson, Assinabois, Sask.; Rev. Leon ard Graham, Swift Current, Sask.; Mr. and Mrs. Alf Friesen, Langham, Sask.; Mrs. Agnes Loewen, Vancouver; Mr. and Mrs. John Feiv, Mr. and Mrs. Dave Peters, Langham, Sask.; Mr. and Mrs. Ike Loewen, Waldheim, Sask.; Art Wirch, Vancouver and Norman Loewen, Nola and Roddy, Vancouver.

Mother-Of-Pearl Bible Carried By June Bride

A mother-of-pearl Bible with stephanotis streamers was carried by Joanne Pearl Seward, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Seward, at the double-ring wedding ceremony to Donald H. Friesen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Friesen of Langham, Sask., in Faith Gospel Church, Kelowna.

Rev. Bill Spletzer officiated and Violet Naydiuk, Kelowna, sang the Wedding Prayer, "Whither Thou Goest." She was accompanied by Mrs. Sheila Seward of Slave Lake, Alta.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore an ivory jersey gown with lace jacket featuring long sleeves and scalloped edges. It was worn by her mother 32 years ago.

Her headdress was seed pearls and rhinestones. It held a full-length nylon tulle veil with scalloped edges and tiny white velvet bows.

The "something old—something borrowed" was the dress and headpiece borrowed from Mrs. Marilyn Williams.

The matron of honor was Mrs. Victor Friesen, the bride's oldest sister from Swift Current, Sask.

Shariene Walt and Carolyn Seward, both of Kelowna, were bridesmaids. Kerl Lynn Seward, from Slave Lake, Alta., was the flower girl.

The bridesmaids were gowned in pale green Swiss dot gowns featuring princess lines, short puffed sleeves and high collar. The flower girl's gown was in identical style; white with green dots. She carried a tiny basket of daisies.

Their headdresses were of tiny fabric flowers made of the same dot material.

Best man was Victor Friesen, Swift Current, Sask., David Griesser and Tim Dicks, both of Kelowna, were ushers. Richard Heilwig, Vancouver, and J. Greg Walker, Kelowna, were groomsmen.

For the reception at Faith Gospel Church, the bride's mother, received wearing a green tulle dress with silver lace coat and bone accessories. Her corsage was of yellow daisy mums.

The groom's mother chose a hot pink tulle dress with pink lace coat. She had flowers of white daisy mums.

Toasts were proposed by the bride's uncle, Chris Griesser.

TEA SERVICE

A lace cloth over a green underlay was decorating the bride's table, with the wedding cake decorated by the groom's mother. Table centres were roses and green candles. The bride's paternal grandmother's tea service was used.

For her honeymoon the bride wore a hot pink pant suit with white accessories. The newly-

Personal Care Homes Announced For Elderly

VANCOUVER (CP) — The provincial government is planning personal care home projects for the elderly in four British Columbia communities, minister without portfolio Grace McCarthy said Tuesday.

Mrs. McCarthy told the Vancouver Housing Association the pilot projects will be built in Vancouver, Burnaby, Victoria and Kamloops within a year.

Except in Kamloops, the projects will contain 150 beds in single-story buildings. A four-story building, which eventually will accommodate 250 persons, is planned at Kamloops.

Mrs. McCarthy said all the homes will provide facilities for handicrafts, recreation, physiotherapy and intensive care.

Engagement Announced

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Gusie of Rutland are pleased to announce the engagement of their eldest daughter, Linda Patricia to Derek Angus, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Angus of Rutland. Wedding plans will be announced later.

Silver Wedding Anniversary Party Honors Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Field

Mrs. Michael Hornsberger, Rutland, and Mrs. Henry Hornsberger, Kamloops, were hostesses for a silver wedding anniversary party honoring Mr. and Mrs. Edwin M. Field. The couple arrived at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Frankie, McDonald Road, Rutland, to show their slides and were surprised by 41 relatives and friends who had gathered for the occasion.

A three-tier wedding cake trimmed with pink flowers and a miniature bride and groom centred the table, covered with a hand-crocheted tablecloth made by Mrs. Field's mother, Mrs. M. Hornsberger who resides in the David Lloyd-Jones Home in Kelowna.

Linda Hornsberger, Rutland, was in charge of the guest book. Donna Hornsberger, Kamloops, presented the wishing well on behalf of the guests.

Gordon Allan, who was best man, related incidents from the past in his toast to the couple. Dancing was followed by a delicious smorgasbord supper.

Of the couple's three children only their younger daughter, Karen, was able to attend the happy event. Their elder daughter, Heather, is travelling in Europe and their son, George, is employed by B.C. Forest Service, north Mackenzie, B.C. Also unable to attend was Mr. Field's mother, Mrs. Alice Phipps, a resident of Mount View Rest Home, Rutland.

Out-of-town guests included Catherine B. Hornsberger, Vancouver, who was her sister's bridesmaid; Mr. and Mrs. Russell Cerege, North Surrey; Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hornsberger, Donna and Douglas, Kamloops and Mr. and Mrs. Don Sutherland, Vernon.

MR. AND MRS. THOMAS DUGGAN

Long-Time Residents Observe 50th Wedding Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Duggan were feted at a dinner reception by their family at the Colony in honor of their golden wedding anniversary. They were married on June 15, 1922 by the late Rev. Braden in the United Church, Kelowna.

Attending to extend good wishes were their daughter, Mrs. Mary Lanfranco from Surrey and sons, Bryan of Armstrong and William of Vernon and their wives. Mrs. Mary Greening of Kelowna, sister of Mrs. Duggan and Mr. Duggan's sister, Doris Teague and his brother Hector and his wife from Westbank also attended. Born in Wales, Mr. Duggan came to Kelowna in 1910 with his parents and grew up here, attending Kelowna schools. He followed his father in the fruit industry for 35 years. His father was a partner in the Duggan and Davis packing house company. Later Thomas and his wife operated a restaurant in Rutland before retiring to Skyline Street in Kelowna in 1966.

Active in sports of all kinds, he won his share of prizes at Regatta swim events and also captained a war canoe during Regatta. Sprinting was his specialty in track and field and he also did well in the boxing ring.

A native of Scotland, Mrs. Duggan, nee Ellen Murdoch, came from Hedley in 1919 and worked in Trenwith Electric before her marriage. The Duggans have 11 grandchildren and two great-grandchildren. One of their favorite pastimes now is fishing, that is Mr. Duggan fishes while his wife reads.

ANN LANDERS

Relatives And Friends Keep Hands Off

Dear Ann Landers: Two years ago I learned my husband was a homosexual and had been one for most of his life. Our marriage had been fairly compatible up to that time. We did have a sex life, but it was not very active or satisfactory. He asked for a divorce because he wanted to live with another man.

When we told our parents we were separating they insisted that we get counselling. The more we fought it, the harder they pressed. They kept saying, "You two belong together. Try harder. You can make it."

My husband became so frustrated he couldn't work. He lost his job. I felt myself going to pieces.

All the while my mother kept pressuring: "Have a baby! Have a baby!" His mother called every day and begged me to stand by her son "in his hour of need." Finally I told him I was going to tell both his folks and mine the real story so they would be divorced. The next morning I found him dead in the garage from exhaust fume inhalation.

To this day I have told no one the true story. But there's a moral here. When people announce they are splitting up, family and friends should accept their decision and leave them alone. Why must they know all the details before they can approve a divorce? I'm having a hard time forgiving our parents for their well-intentioned counsel.—Thanks For Your Shoulder

Dear Thanks: Obviously you should have cut loose from both families and gone ahead with the divorce. The details are no-body's business. Your mistake was thinking you needed their approval.

Dear Ann Landers: It's plain that you haven't worked with the public in quite a while. Your reply to "Ulica Gripe" made that clear. You said, "A competent employee is interested in moving merchandise. He doesn't resent staying with a customer who is buying, or even looking."

Let me fill you in on a few facts. I am a waitress in a restaurant in a large department store. I work anywhere from five to 11 hours a day and I attend school, too. Waitresses are the lowest paid workers there are. I can tell you from experience that nothing is more unnerving after standing on your feet for ten hours than to have some jerk come in at closing time and ask, "Are you still serving?" It's the dirtiest trick in the book.

Stop shaking your head, Ann. The rocks are falling out.—Griped In Seranton

Dear Griped: Better rocks than nothing—which seems to be your problem. Waitresses work hard—very hard—and the hours are often grueling. But if I had no special skills and wanted to make as much money as possible, I'd be a waitress. Granted, the salary isn't great, but an energetic waitress who is competent, cheerful, and gives first-class service—even when people come in at closing time, will clean up in tips. And THAT'S the name of the game, Honey.

Confidential to Friendly Al: Stop being so "friendly" or you'll wind up paying her bills again, Dummy.

Worms May Boost Man's Life Span

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — Nematodes, tiny worms that keep the same set of body cells throughout their life, will help a Buffalo biologist study the process of aging.

Morton Rothstein, a Vancouver native at the State University at Buffalo, has begun a $1-million study of what causes organisms to deteriorate as they grow older.

Rothstein is studying the aging process at the molecular level. He said it is his belief that when an organism ages, something happens in its cells that result in the production of ineffective enzymes, the catalysts for chemical reactions in living things.

To test that theory, nematode worms will be grown in test tubes and examined closely throughout their month-long life spans.

"By having control over the nutrients, temperature and other necessary growth requirements, the effect of these considerations on the total life span can be observed," the professor said.

Rothstein, 50, is being supported in his research by the National Institute of Child Care and Human Development.

APPLE DOLLS WINNIPEG (CP) — Jean Lambert refuses to eat apples because she says it's "cannibalistic." But the suburban St. Vital housewife has for the last 10 years made them into little dolls. Mrs. Lambert says the apples dry naturally over a period of three to four weeks after being peeled and are formed into faces by gently applying pressure daily over the drying period.

On June 16 the Kelowna Wagon Wheelers hosted a surprise house warming party for Beth and Clem Liboliron, who recently moved to a home in the Mission area. The club presented the couple with a wine decanter and six glasses.

June 24, Freshman's Frolic will be held in the Winfield Community Hall, with Alex McClelland and Ken Corrier as callers. This dance is for all new dancers and old ones alike.

July 1, the Peach City Promenaders will host a party in the Legion Hall, Pentiction, at 8 p.m., with Bob Hamlin of Calgary as caller.

The summer outdoor dancing will begin July 4 in the Jubilee Bowl in Kelowna City Park and July 5 in the Gyo Park, Pentiction.

SQUARE DANCES DAFFODIL

The square dancers and horticulturists can both take note that now there is a daffodil named Square Dancer. The story was carried on the wire services last July and the description goes like this: This is another version of the split cup form of daffodil (split the ring?). The segments are beautifully ruffled and fluted (like square dance petticoats?), almost hiding the broad-petaled perianth (no comment) which measures more than four inches across.

The color of Square Dancer is vivid—a deep buttercup yellow (yes a favorite for square dance dresses)—and the glowing blossoms face outward for extra show (pretty side out). "Square dancing is joy, beauty, grace, comfort and consideration."

Till next week happy square dancing.

IN RUTLAND

Vote July 4 On Park Land

RUTLAND (Staff) — If residents of this community do not vote to buy more parkland, they may not have the opportunity again, says M. W. Marshall, director of the Regional District of Central Okanagan. The Rutland Agricultural Society has taken an option on about 20 acres of land near Rutland Secondary School. Residents will be asked July 4 if they want to buy the land. Later, if the region decides to build an arena, it will buy enough land for the building. This vote will probably be held in about three months.

Literature on the park will be sent to residents. A public meeting has been called for June 28 in the centennial hall. Primarily this will deal with the arena, but the park question may also be discussed.

OTHERS CAN SHARE

The parks bylaw will enable regional parks in other parts of the community, and other electoral areas to share in the function if they wish.

Advisory committees in Kelowna and Glenora-McKinley Landing areas have suggested these areas should participate in the arena. Votes will be held in these areas.

"If the people do not buy this land now, they may never get an opportunity again," said Mr. Marshall. He said this would be an excellent chance to combine three uses—school, park and arena.

Many people have advocated more use of school facilities. A new building has been erected to serve as a senior secondary school, and the old building will be used for a junior school.

The property will cost $105,000, plus $5,000 for maintenance, financed over 10 or 20 years. Because of the way this area is growing, Mr. Marshall could not estimate how much this will mean to the average homeowner.

The 1972 assessment on land and improvements in Rutland is $18,724,842. This might soon double.

The director referred to the situation concerning Kelowna General hospital. A few years ago the rate was 3.22 mills, and it was feared this would go higher because of improvements to the hospital. Increased assessments in communities around Kelowna resulted in the rate dropping.

At a recent meeting, Rutland Park Society agreed to manage the park. The society will have to present a budget to the regional district each year.

The regional district has suggested using four acres for the arena. This would leave 16 acres for the park. The present centennial park contains 8 1/2 acres, part of which is occupied by a hall, swimming pool and other buildings.

This year the Rovers Softball Team switched games to Kelowna because there are no proper facilities in Rutland for night games.

Centennial park is close to the present centre of Rutland, but Mr. Marshall suggests the centre will shift as the area grows. He thinks the park should be used for gardens and such like, with sports facilities being shifted to the new park. At present there is no way for the region to accept property from developers or groups. The new bylaw would make this possible.

Defeating the park question would not necessarily kill the arena, the director said.

Advance voting will be June 27 at the regional district office, 540 Groves Ave., Kelowna, between 9 a.m. and 5 p.m. People voting then must sign statements that they expect to be absent July 4, or cannot vote then for reasons of conscience.

Subcommittees On Incorporation

RUTLAND (Staff) — Two sub-committees were formed at the first meeting of a committee to study the pros and cons of incorporation. The committee is made up of the executive of Rutland Chamber of Commerce and others.

The first committee will get details on the area which might be incorporated, such as property values, population, tax revenue, and other details. Members are Aubrey Blanchard, M. W. Marshall and Bill Yorke-Hardy.

The other group will send a questionnaire to chambers of commerce in areas of comparable size that have been incorporated recently. This will ask for comparisons of taxes and costs before and after incorporation. Members are Alan Patterson, Casey Wood, Terry Ruttle, Mrs. Birt Showler and Fred Stevens.

No answer has been received from the B.C. municipal affairs department on a request for copies of the municipal act and other information.

Members studied a brief from students of Rutland Senior Secondary School, also on the incorporation of Westside near Kamloops.

Another meeting will be held when sub-committees are ready to report.

Rutland Gets Second Vote On Regional District Board

Rutland now has two votes on the Regional District of Central Okanagan board, and becomes the second community with more than one vote.

According to the census taken last summer across Canada, Rutland had 9,051 residents. Since there is one vote for each 5,000 people or part of that, director M. W. Marshall gets two votes.

The city of Kelowna was listed with 19,412 residents, giving representative Mayor Hilbert Roth four votes. The city had this number of votes before the census.

Population of the entire region is shown at 49,742, about 700 more than preliminary cen-

Kinette Meetings Over For Summer

RUTLAND (Staff) — The monthly meeting of the Rutland Kinette Club was held at the home of Mrs. Denton Powles. Vice-president Mrs. Trevor Miller presided in the absence of president Mrs. Robert Bouchard. Guests were Mrs. Fred Fowler, Mrs. Jack Pratt, Mrs. Brian Whitelaw and former member Mrs. Dick Callaghan. Plans were discussed for bake sales in the fall. Five couples are planning to attend the installation banquet and dance June 24 at Summerland. This was the last meeting until September, when a new executive takes over.

Chamber Meeting To Hear Report

RUTLAND (Staff) — A report on the annual meeting of the B.C. Chamber of Commerce at Nanaimo will be given at the monthly meeting of Rutland chamber at 8 p.m., Monday in the Dillman room at the Centennial Hall.

A report will also be given on the first meeting of a committee to study the pros and cons of incorporating the community.

There will be no speaker.

Black Mountain Annual Meeting

RUTLAND (Staff) — Operations of Black Mountain Irrigation District last year will be reviewed at the annual meeting June 29 at 8 p.m. in the Dillman room at the Centennial Hall. The district supplies domestic and irrigation water to about 600 people.

The BMID is the oldest waterworks system here, formed in 1920.

Fred Stevens heads the BMID board. Other trustees are Ian Hadden, Jim Kitaura, Colin Day and Harold Hildred. The three-year term of Mr. Kitaura ends this year. Nominations will be received July 6. An election, if needed, will be July 13.

Softball Games Are Cancelled

RUTLAND (Staff) — The midge girls' minor softball finals have been cancelled this week because of weather and other problems. Teams from Quigley, South Rutland and Rutland elementary schools were to have played.

Three teams of high school girls, and two of women, are to play a single knockout tournament Sunday in the Centennial Park beginning at 10 a.m.

Now's the time for B.C. STRAWBERRIES

Red, ripe strawberries from the rich growing areas of the lower mainland are now at the peak of freshness and flavor... ready for your family to enjoy in strawberry shortcake and other delights. B.C. strawberries are also an excellent freezer product, available under several brand names at your local food store. And of course, jams made from B.C. strawberries have been a favorite sandwich spread for many years, not only in our own province, but across Canada. You can enjoy these processed products throughout the year — but the time for fresh B.C. strawberries is right now! For a collection of B.C. berry recipes, write:

Few Applications Made For Bursary

PEACHLAND (Special)—The annual branch 69 bursary and hall renovations were the main items discussed at the Monday meeting of branch 69 Royal Canadian Legion, Peachland.

Letters of appreciation were read from Miss Jane Betuzzi, this year's recipient of the annual $15 bursary, and from Melville Jarwick, principal of George Pringle Secondary School. Membership questions why so few applications were received for this bursary this spring, only three applying, it was decided that in future years the branch would advertise the fact this bursary is not necessarily given to a top student, though marks must be WINNIPEG VISITORS' LAKEVIEW HEIGHTS (Special)—Mr. and Mrs. Allan Rempel of Winnipeg are spending a few days with their relatives in Lakeview Heights. Among those they are visiting, and staying with, are Mr. and Mrs. O. Zimmerman, uncle and aunt, and Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Rempel, grandparents of Allan Rempel. They are taking a delayed honeymoon and having a look at British Columbia.

Ladies Sharing Day is being held on Thursday at 10 a.m. at the Alliance Church. Bring a sack lunch. All denominations are welcome.

average or above. It was felt only A students feel they can put in for bursaries, this is why only three students applied.

President J. G. Swift commended the building committee for the good work this past month, hall renovations done, cooler purchased and an air conditioner installed, he stated. This group had a busy month.

Service Officer Lawrence Moore reported he is making progress with his service work in the area, and asked that all branch members and LA keep him informed in areas where he can be of service. He stated he would "rather waste time following some course and find I'm not needed, than miss a veteran or his family who need my assistance."

Mrs. Val Patterson, branch membership chairman, reported 99 branch memberships to date and 23 fraternal affiliate members. She told the meeting she still has a few cards not picked up which must be returned this month, all these former members will be contacted.

Murray Evans questioned the order of list of priorities entered in the minutes earlier this year stating he felt some on top of the list should be waived if good buys can be obtained. He was told this list could be revised at any time.

Next regular meeting of branch 69 will not be held till fall.

PEACHLAND SOCIALS

PEACHLAND (Special)—The Peachland United Church Women held their final meeting until fall at the home of Mrs. Tom Redstone on Beach Avenue.

Although the tea held recently was poorly attended a small profit was shown. It was also reported that the UCUW thrift shop held each Tuesday and Friday in the United Church basement is proving very successful this year and will be continued throughout the summer months. The next meeting will be held in September.

Recent guests at the home of Mrs. Lillian Ayres in Trepanier were her granddaughter Mrs. John Garraway and friend Mrs. May Mooney from Vancouver.

Mrs. Ernie Aitken, formerly Vera Hay of Peachland, now of Vancouver, was a recent guest at the home of Mrs. Myrtle Ferguson on 3rd Street.

Vacationing with Mr. and Mrs. Martin Shaw, Buchanan Road, is their niece, Bonnie Herst, from Richmond.

Receiving congratulations on the birth of a son are Mr. and Mrs. Ken Hornsby, Pincushion Motel, and Mr. and Mrs. Eric Hedley of 3rd Street whose daughter was born June 9.

A christening of local interest took place at the Lady of Lourdes Catholic Church, Westbank, on Sunday when the infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Rodney Messer, Westbank, was christened Brendan Todd Messer. Rev. Michael Guinam officiated. Godparents are Darwin Messer and Lynne Doyle. For his christening the baby wore christening robes, a gift of his paternal grandparents in Saskatchewan. A family dinner was held at the parents' home.

Visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Archie Spence, 5th Street, recently, were James and Susan Perkins who dropped in enroute home to Prince Rupert.

Mr. and Mrs. Al Galpin are home after a visit to the coast where they visited with friends and relations.

The last meeting before summer recess of the Peachland Parks and Recreation Commission will be held Wednesday in the community hall committee room. It is also registration night for swim classes.

STRAWBERRY SOCIAL

Westbank Recreation Commission will once again be holding their annual Strawberry Social in the Westbank Community Hall on Friday afternoon. There will be a bake sale, a fish pond for the kiddies, and a special plant table. An important feature will be the registration of children for the Red Cross swimming classes.

These classes will take place during the first two weeks of July. Costs will be $3 per child, or $9 per family, and those wishing to register their children should attend at this time and do so.

Hawes-Johnson Take Vows In Spring Flower Ceremony

WESTBANK (Special)—Baskets of spring flowers graced St. Paul's United Church, Kelowna, and white satin bows marked the pews for the wedding of Jean Evelyn Hawes of Vancouver, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Vern Morris Hawes of Westbank and Robert Wayne Johnson of Vancouver, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Johnson of Tsawwassen, who were married on June 10 at 4:00 p.m.

Rev. John M. Davidson officiated at the wedding ceremony while Mrs. Gillian Relphe presided at the organ. During the ceremony E. Burnett of Kelowna, sang the Wedding Prayer and the Lord's Prayer, and was accompanied by Mrs. Gillian Relphe on the organ.

The bride entered the church on the arm of her father to the strains of the wedding march, so lovely in her traditional white gown of classic lines with an empire bodice, fashioned with cathedral sleeves trimmed with lace in a dainty motif. She wore a picture hat bordered with daisies and she carried a spring bouquet of white shasta daisies and stephanotis and she wore a blue garter.

The bridal party consisted of junior bridesmaids, Cheryl Hawes of Westbank and Shelley Richardson of Vancouver; senior bridesmaids, Joan Charlton of Vancouver and Janet Johnson of Vancouver; matron of honor was Donna Leyland also of Vancouver.

The ushers were Jim Hawes Jr. of Westbank, Glen Johnson of Tsawwassen and Ron Leyland of Vancouver. The groomsmen were Randy McMillan and the best man was Ken Johnson both of Vancouver, B.C. The attendants wore gray Edwardian tuxedos with white carnation boutonnieres.

The reception was held at the Capri Motor Hotel in Kelowna where the bride's mother received wearing a gown of aqua blue chiffon with aqua accessories and a white orchid. The bridegroom's mother chose a pink floral chiffon with pink accessories and she also wore a white orchid.

The bride's table was centred with a beautifully decorated three-tiered wedding cake which was topped with a vase of white daisies. Vases of spring flowers and the bridal bouquets decorated the table and carried out the wedding theme.

Master of ceremonies was Jack Richardson of West Vancouver and the toast to the bride was proposed by the bride's uncle Jim Hawes of Westbank. Many telegrams were read, coming from Europe and all over Canada.

Before leaving for her honeymoon the bride changed to a pink and burgundy floral dress with burgundy accessories. She tossed her bouquet which was caught by Janet Johnson and the garter was caught by Jim Hawes Jr. The honeymoon is being spent in Europe and on their return the newlyweds, Mr. and Mrs. R. Wayne Johnson, will reside in Vancouver, B.C.

In addition to the many guests from British Columbia and Alberta were: Mrs. J. Moore of Doncaster, England and Mrs. W. Shaw of Kilsyth, Scotland, aunts of the bride and sisters of Mrs. Vern Hawes (Aileen). They will be staying here for a month and Mr. and Mrs. A. Saunders of London, England.

Willows Pull Off Turnabout Now Club 13 Just Needs A Win

While Treadgold's Club 13 were battling for league lead honors recently, Willow Inn Willows were just trying to win a game in the Kelowna and District Senior Men's B Softball League.

Now the situation has changed, and Club 13 are looking for a win after losing their fifth straight Wednesday night, an 8-0 drubbing at the hands of Willows who have won three of their last four outings.

Larry Yeast won his fourth game in six outings, scattering six hits, striking out two and walking one. Rick Kraushaar evened his record at 4-4, being tagged for nine hits. Kraushaar struck out two and walked two before making way for Wally Sehn in the bottom of the sixth inning. Sehn gave up one hit and struck out one.

Willows made it hurt in the first inning, after Kraushaar had retired the first two batters, John Chadwick rapped a single, followed by a walk to Wayne Nelson. Dale Armeaneu and Ken Weninger followed with back-to-back singles, each driving in a run.

Club 13 loaded the bases with two out in the second, mounting their most dangerous attack, but Ian King struck out to retire the side.

A hit and an error, followed by a single up the middle by Armeaneu brought in two more runs for Willows in the third inning and gave them a commanding 4-0 lead.

Willows picked up single runs in the next two innings, continuing to hit Kraushaar and keep runners in scoring position. They landed hard again in the sixth inning, grabbing two more runs to complete the rout.

Rod Bennett led off with a double to centre field and scored on Chadwick's one-out single. Chadwick's hit signalled Sehn to the mound.

North slammed Sehn's fourth delivery to centre field for a run-scoring double and took third on an error to Club 13's third baseman Gil Atkins. North was caught at the plate trying to take home on an infield grounder and Sehn got Weninger on strikes to retire the side. Eight of the nine players in Willows' lineup got hits, with Chadwick and Armeaneu leading the way with two singles each. North and Bennett had doubles for Willows.

Jack Murphy led Club 13 with a pair of singles, with no Club batters able to get an extra base hit.

Club 13 will try to break their losing skid tonight when they meet Rutland Rovers at 8 p.m. at King's Stadium.

Pacific 66 Wins 7-3 Decision For Second Straight Victory

Pacific 66 won their second straight game of round robin competition with a 7-3 win over Dairyland in Senior Babe Ruth playoff action Wednesday night.

It was the first loss in two starts for Dairyland, while Sun Country have lost their first two outings.

Allen Nelson went the distance for the win, allowing four hits, while Ken Yochim suffered the loss. Stu Haskins took the mound for Dairyland in the fifth inning.

Problems Face Hockey Canada

TORONTO (CP) — Hockey Canada emerged from its annual meeting Wednesday still pondering a decision within its executive body and with a committee filling in for president Charles Hay, ailing in a Calgary hospital.

Alan Eagleson solved one of the problems by agreeing to continue serving on the Hockey Canada board, at least until the September series between Canada and Russia is realized.

Eagleson, who also sits on the organization's steering committee and is executive-director of the National Hockey League Player's Association, submitted his resignation to the board twice in recent weeks.

He said after Wednesday's meeting he would reconsider his latest resignation, given to Hockey Canada last week.

"All I want to do is beat the Russians eight times," said the Toronto lawyer who also represents a number of NHL players in their contract discussions with club owners. "So I have told Mr. (Doug) Fisher and Mr. (David) Kinnear that I will stay if they think I can help."

Fisher, who also served as official spokesman after the meeting, said Russia had refused to change the opening dates of the four-game Canadian end of the series set for Sept. 2, 4, 6 and 8, but allowed that because of unforeseen accommodation problems the series probably would open in Toronto rather than Montreal.

Second game of the series would be in Montreal with Winnipeg and Vancouver the host cities for games 3 and 4. The entire Russian portion of the series, Sept. 22, 24, 26 and 28, will be in Moscow.

Schrader L, Glass and Glass, Weller; Brummett W and Garvin.

Pacific 66 wiped out a 1-0 deficit to take a 5-1 win going away over Plywood Specialties in Junior Babe Ruth playoff action Wednesday.

Lloyd Kusper pitched a four-hitter for the win, while loser Eric Blais was touched for five hits. Don Thompson led Pacific 66 to the plate with a run-scoring double.

MIKE HALEY (with ball) is just another rookie trying for a spot with the M.C. Lions and trying to impress the coaches as he puts his head down and hits the bag Wednesday in practice in Penticton. Haley plied his football trade with

Immaculata Dons and went on to become a top contender for a position with the CFL team. (Courier Photo)

A Good Start With Dons Leads To Lions' Camp

For Mike Haley an outstanding performance with Immaculata Dons of the Okanagan Mainline Football League has led to four years at Boise State University in Idaho and a chance at making the B.C. Lions.

Haley, a husky 190-pound six-footer, is trying out for two positions with Lions at their training camp in Penticton and thinks his chances are good for one of them.

The Immaculata graduate of 1968, a native of Rossland before coming to Kelowna in Grade 10, led Dons by playing fullback, defensive middle line-backer and kickoff and punt return man.

"I also played fullback at Boise, the smallest fullback in the conference, but they said the meanest," Haley said Wednesday following a two-hour practice on the sun-baked Peach Bowl field.

Boise State won the small college Camella Bowl last year and have compiled an enviable 37-5 record in recent years. Haley didn't play in the Camella Bowl, being sidelined by a knee operation in late season.

The operation was for the repair of torn ligaments and removal of cartilage. "The knee doesn't give me any trouble now," Haley said. "It's mostly a matter of strengthening it so that I have confidence in it and won't think of it during a game."

Haley, who is one semester short of a BA in English, is trying out at running back and defensive halfback. He thinks his best chance lies in the running back spot.

"There are five guys trying out on the right side spot, none of them veterans. Jim Young, who played the position last year, is moving to flanker, Haley said.

Each rookie in camp has a master, a veteran player who gets his charge to pour his drink and to wait on him. Haley's master is Al Rankin, one of the players he is trying to beat out. Rankin came to Lions from Saskatchewan Roughriders last season.

Haley also starred in track and field, setting a Canadian juvenile javelin record. After getting his four-year scholarship he was forced to drop his track pursuits.

Mike comes from an athletic family, with his father Joe one of three athletically-inclined brothers. Joe Haley was in the 1936 Olympics in high jumping and joined his two brothers, Pat and Paul, as the only three-brother combination in the British Empire Games.

"Right in the cup! But that's the last time he has coffee on the terrace!"

COACHES IN FLAP . . .

Moorhead Figures In Plans

PENTICTON — No matter what you may have heard about six quarterbacks in camp and no one having a job locked-up, husky Don Moorhead still figures very large in the B.C. Lions' plans for 1972.

And that's why there was the closest thing to a flap on among the Lions coaching staff, yesterday, when Moorhead suddenly pulled up lame in an agility drill.

Fortunately as it turned out, Moorhead, who finished last season as the Lions No. 1 signal-caller and will definitely be hard to dislodge from that spot this year, had come up with only a minor muscle pull in his thigh.

And after head coach Eagle Keys had assessed the situation, the six foot, three inch, 210-pounder went back to the workout albeit a little less strenuously, for the rest of the day.

Meanwhile, a rather important cog in the Lions' defensive line, large Garrett Hunsperger, who had caused some concern Tuesday, was back for both of yesterday's workouts and appeared A-okay.

Not so fortunate, however, were a pair of the club's lesser lights, kick-off return artist Michelle (Mike) Leveille and defensive lineman Bob Brown, who both came a cropper on Monday.

Leveille with a pulled or strained calf muscle is still in a resting cast that figures to stay on until the end of the week, while Brown was also figured to be sidelined for a number of days at least, with what appears to be a pulled ligament.

One other casualty yesterday, when defensive lineman Bill Coghill, another rookie, twisted a knee but how seriously was not reported.

The workouts Wednesday again stayed on the light side, as Keys and his staff continued to bring the club along slowly before moving to any real hitting, which is slated to begin near the weekend.

Agility and conditioning drills took up most of the day with the lone step toward contact being a short session of one-on-one in the morning.

Going into yesterday, the squad was broken into four teams that will work together through the balance of the camp, as the coaches start to work toward the difficult task of assessing individuals preparatory to making the first cut.

That, however, won't begin until next week, as once again Keys made it clear it was much too early to be considering cuts.

We won't be cutting anyone yet awhile, Keys said, unless they're hopeless, the camp will remain intact until the first of next week.

Queried about the continuing trouble that rookie centre Willie Postler and last year's Rose Bowl-winning quarterback Don Buncie were having with snaps, Keys said it was to be expected.

"Getting the ball to the quarterback," said Keys, a former centre himself, "is tougher than it looks, it's all timing, a 'feel' and both men can foul it up until it comes."

So far as the quarterbacks are concerned in the drills that were run, Moorhead and Wilkinson still appeared to hold the best of it thanks to experience and familiarity with the club, but the others were coming.

Ted Gerela, who had returned to the fold when he ended any thought of going to the National Football League and inked a contract Monday night, was again playing "catch-up" for the time he had lost.

Besides working a full shift in the drills and fitting in to the defence a cornerback, he was stealing whatever chance he had before and after the workouts, to sharpen up on his kicking.

Keys, asked about Gerela, with a quiet smile said, "He's a good football player—can do a lot of things."

In today's workouts, the fourth since the camp opened, Keys said the one-on-one drills will be continued with the squad gradually moving toward more hitting as they are ready. "We could scrimmage now," Keys concluded, "but we want them all to be ready when we start."

Giants Bring Boss To Knees Fox Salaams Before Bryant

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The way San Francisco Giants are going this season, it was bound to happen. They've finally brought manager Charlie Fox to his knees.

Defending National League West champions, the Giants have spent most of the 1972 baseball season buried at the bottom of their division. Temperatures grow short in the kind of campaign the Giants are living through and last weekend manager Fox and pitcher Ron Bryant exchanged angry words.

"If Bryant brings in a shut out," said Fox before sending the lefty out to face Chicago Cubs Wednesday, "I'll go out on my hands and knees to him."

With the manager's foot positioned neatly in front of his mouth, Bryant naturally blanked the Cubs 2-0 on a two-hitter. Fox came out to congratulate him and did a neat salaam, just as he had promised.

In other National League games Wednesday night, Cincinnati Reds regained first place in the West, knocking off Montreal Expos 6-4 while New York Mets were topping Houston Astros 5-4. The Mets crept within five percentage points of first place Pittsburgh Pirates in the East race as the Pirates bowed to Los Angeles Dodgers 5-3 in 10 innings. Philadelphia Phillies outslugged Atlanta Braves 9-7 and St. Louis Cardinals routed San Diego Padres 14-3.

Cincinnati spotted Montreal an early three-run lead and then bounced from behind to overtake the Expos and reclaim first place in the West.

Pete Rose tripled home two runs in the second inning and then triggered a three-run fifth with a leadoff single to spark the Reds' rally. It was his triple that got the Reds back in business.

"I think Pete won the game with that hit," said manager Sparky Anderson. "We're three runs down and he stings the ball up the alley."

Rose agreed that his triple was the big hit for the Reds.

"Scoring with two out picks you up and takes the steam out of the other club," the peppery outfielder said.

Canadian Team In Semi-Finals

MIAMI BEACH (Reuter) — Canada, with its top player in the hospital, staged a rally Wednesday night to win a spot in the semi-finals of the World Bridge Olympiad.

Also in the finals are Italy, the United States and France. They will play the semi-final round tonight with the two top teams playing in the finals Friday and Saturday.

Italy won the women's World Bridge Olympiad Wednesday night, with South Africa second and the United States third.

So close was the finish of the open championship qualifying rounds that although the 39 competing countries each played 760 bridge hands, the names of the four successful countries were not known until the last card had been played late Wednesday night in the match between Taiwan and Switzerland.

Italy and the United States were already home when the last round began Wednesday night, but a desperate three-cornered battle was in prospect between Taiwan, France and Canada.

The Canadians had apparently been mortally handicapped by having lost the services of key player Sammy Kehela of Toronto. Kehela, who in partnership with Eric Murray, also of Toronto, is one of the world's great players, was taken to a hospital Wednesday afternoon with a condition suspected to be due to hypertension.

Perry Didn't Have Best Stuff But Enough To Beat Twins

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Gaylord Perry didn't have much Wednesday night ... probably because he gave it to Bill Rigney the night before.

When Cleveland Indians arrived in Minnesota on Tuesday, Twins' manager Rigney found a tube of sticky ointment on his desk, courtesy of Perry. Rigney had accused the veteran right-hander of doctoring the baseball when Perry beat the Twins and Bert Blyleven 7-1 two weeks ago.

So Perry rubbed it in again by beating the Twins—and Blyleven—4-2 Wednesday night.

Elsewhere in the American League, Detroit Tigers took over undisputed possession of first place in the East Division by downing Oakland Athletics 5-2 while California Angels topped Baltimore Orioles 6-3. Chicago White Sox trounced Milwaukee Brewers 9-3 and Boston Red Sox outslugged Texas Rangers 10-9 in 11 innings. Kansas City Royals and New York Yankees were rained out.

Perry, who has been accused of putting everything from saliva to greasy kid stuff on the baseball, didn't have his best stuff but still joined Chicago's Wilbur Wood and Detroit's Mickey Lolich as the major leagues' only 11-game winners.

Maple Leafs Hurting Again As Harrison Defects To WHA

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Toronto Maple Leafs, often labelled reactionary by their National Hockey League chatters because of their inflexible signing policies, have been hard hit by rival World Hockey Association teams.

Goaltender Bernie Parent signed with Philadelphia Blazers and defencemen Brad Selwood and Rick Ley have joined New England Whalers.

Other members of the Leafs are reported disenchanted with their negotiations and rumored considering employment with WHA teams.

Centre Jim Harrison parted with Toronto Wednesday, joining Alberta Oilers. He signed a four-year pact for a reported $200,000. Money appears to be a motivating factor in all Leaf defections.

Parent is said to have negotiated a $700,000-plus deal with Philadelphia over five years and while no terms were divulged in the Selwood-Ley contracts, both were said to be under multi-year agreements and Selwood has publicly stated he already has $100,000 in the bank.

HULL MAY MOVE

Money also appears to have lured Bobby Hull from his 15-year tenure in Chicago. In Winnipeg on country-wide promotional tour, the 33-year-old scoring ace said Wednesday he hoped "negotiations are coming to an end."

TO YOUR GOOD HEALTH

What's Carbohydrate Is Reader's Query

By George C. Thosteson, M.D.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I have received a lot of good advice from you. I'm a diabetic and am on a 2,000-calorie diet, and the doctor says I am fit as a fiddle.

What I want to know is the definition for carbohydrates. What are they? The dictionary just has something about animal growth that I can't define.—E. R.

Let's see if we can take some of the mystery out of it. By definition, carbohydrates are foods of a certain chemical make-up—a particular pattern of carbon, hydrogen and oxygen, and they are organic, meaning that they come from a life form of some kind. So I guess that hasn't added much to your understanding, but don't go away just yet.

There are three principal types of food that we eat.

1. Protein.

2. Fats.

3. Carbohydrates.

(Plus, of course, incidental but necessary items including vitamins, minerals, and "trace elements" of which we need only traces.)

Protein contains the amino acids, or complicated chemical structures containing nitrogen, which have been well called "the building blocks of life." Essential, they are necessary to build, and rebuild, the cells of which the body is made up. Main sources of protein are lean meat, fish, eggs, cheese, poultry. There's some in milk. Some vegetables (nuts and soy beans, for example) are quite rich in protein, compared to other vegetable and fruit products that have little. Fats—well, you know what fats are. Fat in meat, vegetable oils; not much in fruit, although there are exceptions.

Now carbohydrates: For your purposes, consider them as being mainly various types of sugar (cane sugar, sugars in fruits, honey, etc.) and various starchy foods. Spaghetti, macaroni, white flour, corn starch are the main examples of foods that are almost entirely carbohydrate.

Carbohydrates don't "build cells."

Carbohydrates are the "fuel" of the body, giving us heat and energy, while protein "builds." (Some protein, however, is converted into carbohydrate in the body.)

Fats supply some needs that come from neither of the other groups, although fats, of which most of us eat too much, also supply energy. Fats are higher in calories than carbohydrates or protein.

Sugar is absorbed very rapidly. Starches, too. Fats, and especially proteins, are absorbed more slowly. But if you eat more carbohydrates than you need, the surplus will be stored in the body as fat. (Same is true of fats.)

Many vegetables, useful for mineral and vitamin content, are mixtures of elements: some carbohydrate, usually little fat (but there are notable exceptions), usually little protein (but again there are occasional exceptions).

We need some of all the major elements—but be cautious of sugars and starchy foods of all kinds when you don't want to gain weight.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Why would a family doctor advise a senior patient to sprinkle dry yeast over his food, and take brewer's yeast tablets?—M. V.

Probably because it is a very good source of the B vitamins. Note to F. U.: The Pap test is not 100-per-cent accurate—but its accuracy is in the high 90s, which is better than any other method except actual tissue biopsy.

Opening lead — king of hearts.

To defend well you must be able to visualize the unseen hands at the table. This is not really as difficult as it sounds, if you make use of the available clues.

Consider this hand, which is highly instructive. Let's say you're West, defending against three clubs, and lead the king of hearts. Partner plays the encouraging eight, in effect asking you to continue the suit.

If you are by nature inclined to play quickly, you continue with the ace and another heart, which declarer ruffs.

South then draws three rounds of trumps and winds up making three or four, depending on how the play proceeds.

But if you play more thoughtfully, you beat the contract. You don't continue with the ace of hearts at trick two, but instead lead the ace and another spade. East ruffs, returns a heart to the ace, and gets another spade ruff to put South down one.

Perhaps you think this sequence of plays is easier to find on paper than at the bridge table, but actually it is not hard to figure out even if you don't see all the cards. You're expected to know as soon as dummy comes down that partner has a singleton spade, and once you reach that conclusion it is not difficult to find the right defense.

The big clue comes from the bidding. You must assume that if South had four spades and four clubs he would have followed the standard practice of opening the bidding with a club, not a spade.

The fact that he elected to bid a spade strongly indicates he has five spades, and this in turn marks East with a singleton. A trick two is consequently not as ingenious as it appears to be.

YOUR HOROSCOPE

Friday, June 23

Aries (March 21-April 19): Minor adjustments are favored. Adding something to your reserves is possible. Pay little attention to interpretations placed on the news.

Taurus (April 20-May 20): When those you want to reach are open and sensitive to what is said, you have to cope with your own tendency to over or understate your case.

Gemini (May 21-June 20): Improve your habits to protect your health and safety. Brighten up your wardrobe with something new and in style. Celebrate.

Cancer (June 21-July 22): Spread your efforts and time over a number of minor projects instead of trying to put it all into a single special activity.

Leo (July 23-Aug. 22): Use your skills to help your favorite charity, once you've seen to your own interests. You'll find good company when you do.

Virgo (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Share your dreams and schemes with friends. You can do much on creative ventures or even some speculative enterprise.

Libra (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): All of today's effort adds up, provided you make it consistent. Quit at a normal time, change pace and scene completely.

Scorpio (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Be willing to broaden your contacts to include unfamiliar people. Solve a minor problem quickly, so it doesn't grow.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Choose: spill the beans, enjoy the sensation and excitement you cause, or keep quiet and collect benefits from your knowledge.

Capricorn (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Recover loans, and give back what you have borrowed. Wind up your work week neatly. When you get back to it, conditions will be different.

Aquarius (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Resume your search for leadership with some added consideration. It will take a while before others realize the extent of your moves.

Pisces (Feb. 19-March 20): In the swing from morning quiet to evening fun, there's much to learn and recall. Old friends are to be remembered, favors returned.

U.S. Market 'Still Best'

OTTAWA (CP) — Despite the economic growth of Europe, the United States continues to offer better market opportunities for Canadian exporters, the Senate foreign affairs committee was told today.

Forrest Rogers, financial adviser to the Bank of Nova Scotia, said that while Canada has been selling an increasing volume of finished goods to the U.S., its major gains in the European market have been in sales of basic materials.

Trading channels to the U.S. are likely to remain open, and Canada would be unwise not to take advantage of them, he said.

Mr. Rogers told the committee, which is studying the state of Canadian relations with Europe, that Canada's failure to export more manufactured goods to the continent is not, as has been suggested, due to lack of sales effort.

It was due instead to the better opportunities prevailing in the U.S. market.

Mr. Rogers said he was not sure that growth of the European Economic Community is going to be "all that fantastic" even after Britain's entry. The economic growth would be as great in the U.S. during the next decade as in Europe, and probably greater.

He suggested that Canada work with the U.S. to help overcome what he called the reluctance of Europe to shoulder its share of responsibility for the working of the international monetary system.

The interests of the two North American countries were parallel in this regard.

Things Look A Little Brighter In Quebec's Hydro Dispute

MONTREAL (CP) — The first day of a province-wide strike by Hydro-Quebec's 8,500 employees passed without a serious power disruption Wednesday and a glimmer of hope for a settlement emerged.

The Quebec department of labor indicated it might appoint Yvon Dansereau special mediator in the dispute, a move that would produce a favorable response from both sides.

A union official had said earlier that the strike could end with an indication from the public-owned utility that it intends to present a new set of offers or with the naming of a special mediator.

Hydro-Quebec officials said the appointment of Mr. Dansereau would be beneficial and welcomed by both sides.

All of Quebec except for the Magdalen Islands is affected by the strike. While the strike had little effect on service, Hydro officials said the weather could cause problems.

STORM FORECAST

Today's weather forecast is that southern Quebec will be hit with the tail end of a tropical storm today and Friday bringing heavy rains and winds gusting up to 30 miles an hour.

A Hydro-Quebec spokesman said Wednesday that although major transmission lines should not be affected by the storm, blackouts could result from a rash of accumulated minor power breaks.

The storm could cause major problems if it lasted for two or three days, he said.

Charles Guerrier, president of the Canadian Union of Public Employees local that represents the men, said Wednesday the union has defined as essential all services affecting "public security and health."

The union has agreed to maintain essential services during the strike and Mr. Guerrier said emergency crews had no trouble handling the day's usual round of minor breaks. About 300 men worked on the crews across the province.

"We will give the top priorities to hospitals, water pipelines, and police and fire alarms," he said.

In Quebec City, Premier Robert Bourassa said essential hydro services were being maintained throughout Quebec.

Talks broke down Tuesday in the third day of negotiations organized by Yvon Blain, government-appointed conciliator.

Management, a union spokesman said, "had refused to modify its offers one way or the other." It accused the company of showing a "negative and provocative attitude."

BREAKS REPAIRED

Picket lines were formed at Hydro-Quebec installations across the province Wednesday, and a Hydro-Quebec official reported 75 minor power failures during the day, affecting 4,091 buildings. By 4 p.m., emergency crews had repaired 55 of the breaks.

Hydro technicians earn an average $188 a week; office workers $129 and manual workers are paid $4 an hour.

The workers, without a contract since last Dec. 31, voted 81 per cent in favor of a strike last week after expiry of an 80-day court injunction forbidding a strike.

The union has said it is seeking wage increases of 31 per cent for technicians, 21 per cent for manual workers and 19 per cent for office workers.

100 MILE HOUSE (CP) — Village council decided Tuesday not to take a stand on the proposed copper smelter in nearby Clinton because it does not have enough information on it. The 100 Mile House and District Chamber of Commerce had asked council to support a brief in favor of the smelter. The brief is to be presented to a public hearing in Kamloops June 29.

TERMINAL TO OPEN

RICHMOND (CP) — Transport Minister Don Jamieson, Premier W. A. C. Bennett and the president of Mitsui and Company of Japan, Susuki Wakasugi, will be present Friday at the official opening of a new deepsea terminal here. The 40-acre site includes a 300-foot concrete pier, storage area for 8,000 cars and a railway spur that can accommodate three-level auto carriers.

VANCOUVER NAMED

VANCOUVER (CP) — Environment Minister Jack Davis said Wednesday Vancouver will be the site for a United Nations conference on fish management and development scheduled for February and is in competition for a 1975 conference on human settlements. About 300 experts from 60 countries will attend the February conference. Montreal is Vancouver's rival for the 1975 conference.

ROCHESTER WITHDRAWS

CHILLIWACK (CP) — A.D. Don Rochester has announced his decision to withdraw from the race for the Progressive Conservative nomination in Chilliwack Riding in the next provincial election. He said Wednesday he has been considering some political ideas for some time and feels that some of these ideas might not coincide with party policy. Chilliwack now is represented in the legislature by Recreation Minister Ken Kiernan, who will not contest the next election.

Thousands Left Homeless After Hurricane's Visit

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Tropical storm Agnes inched northward today, continuing to dump torrential rains that caused floods over wide areas of North Carolina, Virginia, Maryland, Pennsylvania and New York.

Thousands were left homeless and there were reports of as many as 14 persons dead. Hundreds of persons were evacuated from sites below flood-threatened dams, motorists were stranded on flooded highways and utility service was cut in many areas as the ex-hurricane poured up to 12 inches of rain in spots.

Virginia's state civil defence headquarters in Richmond said it had reports of 11 flood-related deaths, but there were no figures available from state police who keep the official count.

At least two persons were reported dead in New York and one in North Carolina.

An officer in Virginia's hard-hit Prince William County near Washington, D.C., said "cars have just been washed off the roads with people in them."

"We've got cars floating right by our barracks," said Pennsylvania State Trooper Joseph Belinski in the borough of Lykens northeast of Harrisburg. The borough was under three feet of water early today.

Flood warnings remained in effect today for most of New York state and north central and western Pennsylvania.

Virginia officials called early today for amphibious military vehicles in an effort to evacuate stranded motorists after heavy trucks trying to reach them were washed off the roads.

In southwestern New York, the entire population of 700 was evacuated from the hamlet of Almond as water built up behind a highway construction grade. State police said the earthen grade was holding back a 14-mile stretch of water, 20 to 25 feet deep.

Police said John Ide, 36, and his daughter, Amy, 6, at Almond, drowned when they tried to escape their flooded home in a boat.

The state department of transportation estimated that more than 2,500 persons had been evacuated in the region.

Officials of the Chesapeake and Ohio and Baltimore and Ohio railways suspended all commuter and other passenger service in the Washington area until further notice because of washouts, "too numerous to mention."

Areas of Washington got up to seven inches of rain but the downpour eased early today and the worst appeared over. Hundreds of low-lying streets were flooded.

There were no reports of deaths in Maryland.

As the storm moved north, the worst appeared over in North Carolina where 25 persons were evacuated Wednesday when a concrete dam threatened to burst near Burnsville.

The lone death reported in the state came in Salem, 20 miles northwest of Winston-Salem, where a youth drowned when his canoe capsized on the Yadkin River.

COMMONS COMMENTS

Promises, Promises, Say Tories

OTTAWA (CP) — The Commons took on the aspect of an all-party candidates meeting prior to an election Wednesday. Under debate was a Conservative motion accusing the government of failing to live up to promises it made when the current session opened Feb. 17.

The motion, which served only as a vehicle for debate and did not come to a vote, was presented by Conservative Leader Robert Stanfield who seasoned his statistical criticisms of the government record with a heavy dose of political rhetoric.

"Talk about the right hand not knowing what the left hand is supposed to be doing," he said of government economic measures.

"Here we have a situation where the right foot and the left foot keep colliding and going into the same mouth."

MACEachern Replies

Government House Leader Allan MacEachern countered with charges that the opposition has been guilty of carping criticism and tired, bilious platitudes devoid of any constructive alternatives to government programs.

He described Mr. Stanfield as "a mourner at the funeral of his own party" and said one could almost expect the Conservatives to revive the slogan Sir John A. Macdonald used in his last election campaign—"the old flag, the old party and the old leader."

New Democrat Leader David Lewis tore strips off both the Liberal and Conservative parties.

He said the government has consistently placed the welfare of big business above that of individual Canadians.

"It is a government, as it is a system, of corporate tip-off," he said.

But the Conservatives would be no better in power.

Although he had high personal regard for Mr. Stanfield, the Opposition leader, in philosophy and attitude, was "not the slightest bit different" from Mr. Trudeau.

CAQUETTE JOINS IN

Social Credit Leader Real Caquette turned his guns on both Mr. Stanfield and the government.

He said the Conservative leader vigorously opposed the measures the government outlined in the throne speech last February but now, with a motion condemning the government for not enacting its proposals, Mr. Stanfield was straining his own credibility.

Mr. Stanfield said the government proposed 29 separate pieces of legislation in the throne speech and subsequently announced five more, but only handful have been approved by Parliament.

Mr. MacEachern blamed the opposition for the lack of progress during the session.

He said 24 days were spent on just four bills, and only one of the four has yet cleared all hurdles in the legislative process.

With a pace like this, he added, "We are not measuring up to the requirements of modern life and the requirements of a modern legislature."

FIVE BILLS APPROVED

With only six remaining days allotted for government business before the proposed June 30 adjournment, 22 pieces of legislation still are under consideration. Only five bills, plus two routine government spending measures, have been given parliamentary approval.

Mr. MacEachern said the opposition has had 50 days since the current Parliament was elected to present alternatives to government programs but, in all that time, has done nothing but work over the bones of old policies and old ideas.

He also attacked Mr. Lewis for saying the government panders to big business at the expense of the average citizen.

"We are not the servants of any corporation in this country," he said. Any party that could, in one session, bring in legislation to improve family allowances, increase veterans pensions, and create such programs as the Opportunities for Youth and local initiatives programs could hardly be rated frail and supine.
